LOST FLIERS RECOVER FROM PERILOUS CRUISE

BIRDMEN GET BIG WELCOME AT HONOLULU

Members of Crew full of Praises for Heroism and Optimism of Commander

THREATENED BY SHARKS Among Hardships Was Short-are of Tobacco—Men Get Plenty Upon Landing

Honolulu—(AP)—All rested, happy and asleep, America's five new heroes of aerial navigation were at Pearl Harbor Saturday recovering from their strenuous cruise on being cast about by vagrant winds in mid-Pacific for nine days on the seaplane PN-9, No. 1. The men were ordered to bed at the arrival Friday night after their arrival here from Lihue aboard a steamer. They were received with open arms by the island populace headed by Governor Wallace Farrington.

Every member of the crew was able to tell a sparkling story of their unprecedented adventure. John Rodgers, commander of the cruise, dictated a statement dealing with the sensations which came to him during the nine day trip and his associates in flight augmented his story with details that made new history for the United States navy.

Statements revealed the innate modesty of every member of the crew. Each declined to take credit for his own daring acts of heroism, but all pointed to "Captain John's" optimism in the face of disaster and privation as the saving grace of the trying situation. "Captain John" in turn poured his compliments on his subordinates, telling of their fortitude in the "drifting period."

ESCAPE SHARKS
"Sharks—buzzards of the sea—rolled and wallowed round and round the plane, following, the floating PN-9, No. 1 with its crew for most of the more than 218 hours that they drifted.

"Yes, there were sharks, big black fellows that followed day after day always waiting, I suppose, for a choice bit of human flesh," said William H. Bowlin, aviation chief machinist's mate and the other two chimed assent.

The presence of carrion sharks, the ability to hear radio messages telling that the men were believed dead, the inability to dispel these messages of despair by failure of the radio generator, which prevented broadcast—all these conditions failed to dim the hope of reaching land until aided. Only when they were picked up 15 miles from land by the submarine R-4 were they momentarily disappointed, for after drifting 400 miles they expected to move into land unassisted.

MAKE STATEMENT
Lihue—(AP)—The decision to have Commander John Rodgers issue an official statement of the events of the flight of the PN-9, No. 1, was made following a conference of the air plane's crew, as Rodgers and Lieut. Connell had both been deluged with offers for "exclusive stories."

The five men had made the flight and had been rescued after floating on the Pacific for more than nine days agreed that the story of their experience belonged to "the whole world if the world wanted it, and they decided that Commander Rodgers should be their spokesman.

The commander told the story while stretched out on a bed aboard the destroyer Mac Donough enroute from Nawiliwili to Pearl Harbor, relating it to a stenographer whose notes were quickly transcribed and sent out from the radio room.

Among numerous details and incidents of which he told, it seemed that the crew felt most keenly a shortage of tobacco. "Our cigarettes ran out too quickly," he said, "until among the five men we only had three cigars left. One was lighted and the lighter would take a few puffs and then hand it up on a wire so that the next man could take some drags." In this manner the five men smoked up the last of their tobacco supply.

The first thing the rescued fliers asked for when taken out of their plane by the submarine R-4 was cigars. Another incident related by Commander Rodgers was of their fear that the plane would strike a reef and stove in its hull, which would force the men to take to the water to try to swim ashore and he said, "we wanted to step ashore from our plane."

WHAT'S HAPPENING TO WISCONSIN?

Necessity for Close Relationship Between Farm and Industry Is Shown by Agricultural Writer.

(Editor's Note: This the eleventh of a series of articles by R. A. Kennedy, staff representative of the Post-Crescent, on the effects of the present tax policy in Wisconsin industries. The twelfth of this series will appear Monday.)

Madison, Wis.—The close relationship between town and country and the country's dependence upon a prosperous industrial life, can be shown in figures of profit and loss. There is a profit to agriculture when it is located close to a prosperous city that increases when the city is busy and rich and that slumps away when the city suffers because of industrial depression.

These facts were strikingly demonstrated in a recent analysis of bank failures throughout the United States as well as in a tabulation of farm mortgage foreclosures in Wisconsin made by T. L. Smith, well known agricultural writer, who publishes his conclusions in The Wisconsin Agriculturist.

"Industrial prosperity is dependent in a like degree on the rural communities enjoying a fair degree of wealth and comfort," writes Mr. Smith. "This has never been doubted. The point of the latest investigation was to determine to what extent the reverse was true and to learn just how valuable to the farmers and to the community as a whole, the industrial centers were."

"The result of the investigation is particularly important to Wisconsin just now when there is apparent a political tendency to disregard the interests of the industries and an inclination to let the industries go when they complained they were not able to live under the same political system that subject them to a greater tax than industries in other states.

EASTERN FARMERS BETTER OFF

"For the purpose of classification, Wisconsin was divided into its two judicial districts, the Eastern district comprising twenty-seven counties from Lake Michigan west to include from Walworth county on the south and Forest county on the north. The western districts includes the remaining forty-four counties.

"As shown by reports of the attorney-general of the United States farm bankruptcies have invariably been much less frequent in the eastern district which comprises the industrial portion of the state.

"The eastern district, according to the federal census, pays out in wages 77 per cent of all the pay roll money spent in the state, the value of its manufactured products total 76 per cent of all the goods manufactured in Wisconsin. Its manufactured product has a value of 77 per cent of all goods made in Wisconsin and its factories utilize 64 per cent of all the horsepower used in industry in the state.

"Whereas its claim to be the industrial part of Wisconsin is clearly established. Now, when it was shown that throughout this industrial district there was a much lower proportion of farm bankruptcies than in the counties remote from industry, and other factors were considered in the

BANKERS ASSERT FARMER ABLE TO STAND NEW RATE

Tell Freight Increase Investigators Crops Are in Best of Condition

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Four western bank officials appeared at the western railroad freight rate advance hearing here Saturday to testify that agriculture and livestock interests of the west are today in the "best condition since 1920" and able to pay the proposed 5 per cent increase in freight rates.

President A. E. Vanpelt of the Pioneer Mortgage company of Topeka, the first witness, thought "conditions were materially improved in the last two years, especially since the crop season of 1924."

President N. Holman of the First National bank of Guthrie, Okla., said he would testify that "farm conditions were considerably improved this year and last year, over any time since 1920, and in my opinion better than almost any time prior to the war."

The other two western bankers were E. Konekman, of Sioux Falls, and A. H. Denton, of Arkansas City.

G. O. P. MAN ANSWERS SLUSH FUND CHARGE

Oshkosh—(AP)—W. J. Campbell, chairman of the state Republican executive committee, when his attention was called to the statement of Eric J. Onstad, secretary for the LaFollette, personal campaign committee, of money being spent in the campaign for Roy P. Wilcox, made the following statement:

"This is identical with the cry always raised in every campaign by this radical crowd. The fact of the matter is, there is being spent for the election of LaFollette, Jr., today $10 to every dollar that is being used in behalf of Wilcox when consideration is taken of the fact that a vast army of state employees are traveling this state, drawing their salaries from the public treasury, in behalf of LaFollette, Jr.

"Mr. Onstad proposes to find out if an attempt is being made to debauch the Wisconsin electorate. He is perfectly welcome to any information he desires. We have a complete record of every dollar received and extended and not one penny has been used to debauch anybody. We made a complete report of money received up to July 15 in organization work. Money expended in behalf of Mr. Wilcox will be reported according to law and the amount, as stated above, is not a bagatelle compared with the activities of the opposition."

POLICE HOLD 4 FOR JEWEL RAID

One of Group Confesses to Milwaukee Officers. He Received Part of Loot

Milwaukee—(AP)—Police are holding four men in connection with the robbery of a northside jewelry store where two trays of diamond rings, valued at approximately $5,000 were stolen Sept. 3. William Beck, one of the four, confessed, according to the police, that he sat at the steering wheel of the machine used in the robbery, and that the man, who was found near Racine, recently, was the one who held up the store.

Nick Sierra was arrested Friday when attempting to dispose of the stolen property. He admitted the police say, that he was trying to sell the rings, which were taken in the northside robbery.

The other two men arrested in connection with the affair, deny any knowledge of the robbery or the killing. Beck was arrested at the home of a motorcycle patrolman where he was calling on the patrolman's sister. He told the police he received 13 of the rings as his portion of the loot. These were recovered. He denied any knowledge of the killing of the man near Racine.

MISS FAY LANPHIER SUCCEEDS EAST GIRL AS "MISS AMERICA"

Atlantic City, N. J.—(AP)—The crown of Miss America rests today on the blonde unbothered head of Fay Lanphier of Oakland, Calif. Miss Lanphier as "Miss California" and the title of the most beautiful girl in America by 12 to 3 decision of the judges against 63 rivals from various cities Friday night.

She was runner up at last year's beauty pageant when Ruth Malcomson of Philadelphia won the title. Miss Malcomson refused to compete this year because she charged "commercialism" permeated the event.

"Oh, my goodness. Can it really be true?" Was all that "Miss California" could say as she mounted the stage amid applause.

Miss Lanphier—who is described by friends as a bashful home-loving stenographer who has never smoked a cigarette, has an opportunity now to join the movies.

STARTS ROW

This pretty girl nearly broke up the Atlantic City beauty show. She is Miss Kathryn Ray, and because she is in the chorus of a Broadway revue three other contestants refused to appear. They objected to her as a "professional beauty." Miss Fay Lanphier of Oakland, Calif., won the title of "Miss America" Friday.

RUSS DOC SUES FOR 3 MILLION

Starts Action Against Wife's Family and Newspapers Who Injured Him

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Suits for damages totaling $3,000,000 as compensation for mental suffering and physical injuries have been filed here by Dr. Joseph S. Kamienny, said to be a noted Russian scientist and physician.

Members of the family, of David Brezinsky, wealthy west side resident, whom he says he aided to bring from Poland to Germany in 1922 and two Chicago Jewish newspapers were made defendants in the suits.

The newspapers are charged with libel. Dr. Kamienny was ordered to leave Russia in April, 1922, his attorney Harold Jackson said, and fled to Poland where he met the Brezinsky family. He married Rose, daughter of David Brezinsky. He added they got to Germany whence the family and his wife came to America.

The family told him his wife had died, he alleged. Later in Cuba he learned she was living and he came to Chicago. Here the family sought his arrest as a Bolshevik spy, the attorney said.

FIND JOGS IN PAVEMENT ON S. CHERRY-ST

Engineers Engaged by Property Owners Say Pavement Is Not Straight

Taking issue with R. M. Connelly, city engineer, who said that the jog in the new pavement at S. Cherry-st and W. Fifth-st is due to crooked street, property owners in this district engaged other engineers to "check up" on the city engineer's survey, and their findings call attention to a whole succession of crooks and jogs in the pavement, although the street is declared to be "absolutely straight." A number of other faults in the pavement are pointed out.

Those engaged by the residents were L. M. Schindler, Appleton, consulting engineer who is also county surveyor for Outagamie-co, and McMahon & Clark, Engineering Co., Appleton and Menasha, who are consulting engineers for fourteen cities. Besides Mr. Schindler, A. E. McMahon and P. L. Clark, engineers who assisted in the "checkup" were M. O. Clinton and Arthur Schell.

Residents resented the appearance of the grass terraces and curbs left by the Cherry-st "paving" job. They complained about terraces on one side of the street being narrower than on the other and about the alleged ragged curb line which, they said, made the street look like an "Indian trail."

The report received by the residents from the engineers Saturday morning is said to bear out their allegations of great variations in the curb lines as well as deviations in the pavement grades from those established in the plans. The radii established by the plans also were not carried out, it is reported, and at one street intersection a sidewalk is reported to be constructed on private property.

As alleged by the engineers, the pavement was found to vary from .2 to 1.2 feet from being a straight line. The most abrupt job is declared to be at the intersection of W. Fifth-st and S. Cherry-st where the variation is declared to be .82 feet. The greatest divergence to the east being .7 feet and the greatest divergence to the west being 1.2 feet, the maximum variation is said to be .19 or nearly 2 feet.

While pavement plans adopted by the city call for radii of 18 or 25 feet at intersections, the radii actually in existence there now is 13 or 14 feet, it is reported.

The comparison of the grades show that the grade at W. Lawrence-st is .39 feet lower than was established, and the grade at W. Sixth-st is .56 feet lower than that established by the plans.

That any divergence from the plans can not be the fault of the contractor, as he must follow the stakes and grades as given by the city engineer, was declared by one of the supervisors of construction, in charge of the S. Cherry-st job.

The sidewalk lines on the street are approximately correct, the engineers reported, there being only a difference of three-fourths of an inch at one end and four inches at the other end. The walk on the northwest corner of S. Cherry-st and S. Badger-ave, as constructed, is declared to be located on private property and not in accordance with the plans.

While no mention is made of the following point, a glance at the plans on file in the city engineer's office also shows that the plans bear the signatures of the members of the board of public works that was in office on Feb. 6, and the plans are so dated, whereas, these plans were later rejected and new radii established by the new council on April 21. The plans therefore have the signature of L. O. Hansen instead of Charles Fose, who succeeded the former on the board.

Following is the report of the engineers in full: "Gentlemen: In compliance with your request we have carefully examined the Cherry-st pavement to determine the cause of the crooks and jogs in the alignment, and the many other irregularities which you have called to our attention.

"Before starting our field work we made a detailed examination of all the recorded plat in the vicinity of Cherry-st, which are on record at the Register of Deeds Office; the Government Plat and Field notes, and notes of County Surveyors of Outagamie County and of City Engineers of Appleton since the year 1852, all of which are based on the section lines as laid out by the Government, together

ARMY, NAVY HEADS DON'T RELISH QUIZ

Departments Will Favor Inquiry if Public Opposes Appropriation Cuts

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C.—If the army and navy can turn the proposed effort to "investigate" the war and navy departments into a state of mind on the part of the public which will oppose the drastic cuts in size and diminished appropriations for the military and naval establishments, there will be an investigation.

Just now, Acting Secretary Dwight Davis of the war department wants an impartial agency to investigate while Secretary of the Navy Wilbur thinks any investigation superfluous. But underneath it all is a consciousness that congress is about to meet and that a penetrating survey of the military and naval defense of the government will reveal many weaknesses which will in due course be attributed to lack of personnel which means in turn lack of funds.

POPULAR FIGURE
When the picture of Colonel William Mitchell of the army air "service" is shown on the screen it is greeted with spontaneous outbursts of applause. Ex-service men say he is striking the right chord against bureaucracy. Civilian officials, on the other hand, are asking what more the army and navy could have wanted than to have as heads of both the navy and war departments two men who happen to be graduates of Annapolis.

Usually the charge is made that civilians know nothing of service affairs but this cannot be said of either Mr. Veeke or Mr. Wilbur. They had an opportunity at the United States naval academy to absorb the service viewpoint and they have many friends still in the service from whom they can get trustworthy information and advice.

ARE NAVY MEN
What then is wanted? Should the war and navy departments be managed entirely by service men? The civilian secretary idea has long been imbedded in American custom. Beneath it all will be found a demand for specialized executives in each department and more money.

The army and navy faces its real crisis this fall when the budget bureau with the sympathy of President Coolidge begins cutting "to the bone." The charges made by Colonel Mitchell are of course, regarded by many officers as extreme, but they think an investigation would expose the whole system and the lack of funds to have an efficient military establishment.

The drive for appropriations is coming anyhow and it may be expected that the Mitchell controversy will win many supporters inside the army and navy because they think it required a bombshell such as Colonel Mitchell dropped in order to focus attention on service needs.

SKELETONS DUG OUT OF MOUNDS PROBABLY ARE 2,000 YEARS OLD

Chillicothe, Ohio—(AP)—The coming autumn season with its uncertain weather conditions called a halt Saturday to the excavations in the great Seip mound near Bainbridge just as archeologists announced they had made one of the greatest finds in the history of explorations into the works of the American mound builders.

Until next spring the three-fourths of the mound which has not yet been opened will retain the secret it has held for centuries. During the winter the curators of the Ohio Archeological and Historical society at Columbus, will study their findings of the last few days in the burial place of the "princes of the pearls." The skeletons of the four supposed princes were removed Friday night.

"The discovery of a piece of colored cloth in the mausoleum wrote a new chapter in the endeavors of archeologists, for cloth has never before been found in the mounds. Besides the finding of cloth imprints of a canopy of fabric were found on the ceiling of the tomb. H. E. Shetrone, curator, said the bodies had lain in the mound at least 1,000 years, perhaps 2,000 or even more.

INVESTIGATES

Fresh fuel was added to the controversy over America's air forces stirred up by Col. William Mitchell when Col. George Nugent, above, of the army's inspector general department, was sent to San Antonio, Texas, to question Col. Mitchell about his attack on air service chiefs. Army aviation officers say that the cross-country trip was needless, as the inspector general's office at Fort Sam Houston could have carried through the investigation.

LONE BURGLAR GRABS $10,000 IN P. O. STAMPS

Tool Company Office in Prairie du Chien Also Is Burglarized Friday Night

Madison—(AP)—The postoffice at Prairie du Chien was broken into about 3 o'clock Saturday morning, and approximately $10,000 in stamps was stolen, according to Postmaster M. R. Munson.

A night watchman said Saturday morning that he noticed a stranger, whom he thought at the time might be a hobo standing in front of the post office between 3 and 3:30.

The burglar gained entrance to the postoffice by forcing the lock off the front door. The entire stamp box was carried away. Postmaster Munson declared Saturday morning that a hasty check of the loss revealed that at least $10,000 worth of stamps was missing.

The Prairie du Chien Tool company office safe was blown open and a small amount of change was taken during the night. That the same robbers perpetrated the postoffice robbery is the opinion of Postmaster Munson who stated that tools taken from the tool company plant were found in the postoffice.

NEW DIRECTOR PROMISES TO MOP UP AREA

Prohibition Administrator for Midwest to Attack Bootlegging Rings First

NOBODY TO BE SAFE Threatens to Choke Up Supply of Industrial Alcohol and Bond Liquors

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Extra dry is the winter forecast for the Illinois-Wisconsin-Indiana district planned by E. C. Yellowley, its new prohibition administrator.

Sources of supply and larger bootleggers and beer runners rather than hip flask toters and club lockers cache owners will be his immediate objectives he said in outlining roughly his policy. Later the minor offenders may be made to feel the scope of his activity, but from the start "no violator is going to be safe in violating the law."

"I'm going to concentrate on the sources of supply," said the director whose padlocking of Broadway's famous cases brought him national attention.

"Clean out a mob that is making alcohol and hootch in quality and you automatically throw 20 or more bootleggers out of business."

"The diversion of industrial alcohol which is one of the greatest problems will be one thing to get easily attended. We're going after the grain and there is no doubt it can be stopped."

"Choke off this supply of industrial alcohol, which includes all the re-cooked denatured stuff from the barbershop tonics hair lotions, down to paint shop, 'alky' and one big source of supplies will be dammed up."

"Same way with the withdrawals of bonded liquors—we'll clamp down on them harder than ever. Beer will get plenty of attention too, right at the source of supply."

JUDGE RODGERS THROWS HAT INTO SENATE RING

Fort Atkinson—(AP)—Judge Charles B. Rodgers, who was picked at a meeting of Democrats in Milwaukee recently dissatisfied with the stand of William G. Bruce, as candidate for United States senator, Saturday announced he had consented to the use of his name.

Judge Rodgers said he had entered the lists because he is opposed to Mr. Bruce's views. He declares in a statement issued Saturday that he is not only for the League of Nations, but also for the world court.

"I solicit the support of all those who believe that controversies between nations should be settled by amicable adjustment in judicial tribunals, rather than by a resort to war," he said.

JAROSLAV GONS, HERE SEPT. 29 NOTED CELLIST,

Auxiliary of Legion Will Open
Its Course With Esther
Newcomb in Joint Program

Appleton's first big musical program of the fall season will be a concert by Jaroslav Gons, cellist, and Esther Lundy Newcomb, soprano, at Lawrence Memorial chapel Sept. 29 under auspices of the American Legion auxiliary. This will be the first number of the auxiliary's artist series of five numbers throughout the winter months.

Musical prominence has come to Mr. Gons, who has charmed the audiences of many countries. He was solo cellist of the famous Vienna Symphony orchestra and later a professor of the Imperial conservatories and concert artist in Russia. His playing made him widely known in Europe.

Wherever he has appeared since his recent arrival in the United States he has been heralded as one of the really great cellists in this country. He plays with a warmth and rhythm that blends with his skill to present a pleasing concert.

Theatrical who shares his program, Esther Lundy Newcomb, is a soprano of unusually pleasing voice and presence. She sings with charm and musical critics commend her for her clean cut enunciation and expressive diction.

Sale of tickets has been begun by the auxiliary for the course of five numbers, which are offered at a price so reasonable by virtue of the group contract that each evening's program costs no more than the better motion picture shows. The purpose is to furnish excellent entertainment within reach of all.

Other numbers on the course and the dates are: Oct. 30, Clayton Quest, baritone, and Sybil Comer, soprano; Dec. 18, Emma Elaine McKenry, dramatic reader; Feb. 6, Richard Czerwinski, violinist, and Watt Webber, tenor; March 5, Branson DeCou with "Dream Pictures."

$2,372,775 Paid Out Of State Treasury In Month

Madison.—(AP)—Current expenses of the state of Wisconsin during August amounted to $2,372,775, Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, reported this week.

Most of the disbursements were for highways and schools, the treasurer stated, leaving a balance of $11,579,874 in the general fund to meet bills for highways, schools and other state institutions, and governmental expenses during the remaining ten months of the fiscal year.

The statement shows $3,331,562 in various trust funds for the university, agricultural college, normal schools and other state institutions, as well as for teachers insurance and retirement, soldiers rehabilitation and other purposes. The university fund, however, is down to $722.03, and the normal school fund is $311.40, so that large withdrawals will have to be made from the general fund to meet the current expenses of these institutions, Mr. Levitan stated.

Receipts $562,233.77, representing the July tax on gasoline, was reported. This is the largest amount received in any month from the new tax and is attributed to the large volume of tourist traffic during July.

The total state balance of all funds was $15,511,536 on September 1. The total receipts from all sources during August were $1,417,311 and the total disbursements $3,333,753.

I want to call the attention of the people of Wisconsin to the fact that the assertions made in regard to the swollen condition of the state treasury are unfounded," said Mr. Levitan. It is natural that at the beginning of the fiscal year immediately after taxes have been collected, there should be a large reserve in the state treasury but it must be borne in mind that this represents only the appropriations that have been made by the state legislature for state expenditures for the whole year. The eleven millions now remaining in the general fund must be used to pay state expenses up until June 30, 1926, when the present fiscal year ends. Any surplus that remains after all bills have been paid will probably be re-imposed to the tax payers of the state as has been done for the past two years.

SEGREGATE YOUNGER BOYS AT Y. M. C. A.

Separation of the younger and older boys game rooms of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was completed this week. The room at the west end of the department formerly occupied by the billiard and pool tables will be used for a boys reading and quite game room. The billiard and pool tables have been moved to the extreme east end of the department, near the fire place, for the use of the younger boys. This brings all the younger boys' games closer together. The work was carried on under the direction of J. W. Pugh, boys' work secretary.

WELFARE JUDGE WILL VISIT CITY

Dr. C. C. Carstens Will Address Audience Here While Inspecting for Cities Contest

Dr. C. C. Carstens, judge of the social welfare section of the Wisconsin better cities contest, is to be in Appleton on Oct. 1 to check up the facts contained in the special survey prepared here recently. He also will address a group of local citizens at that time.

Dr. Carstens was chosen for this task by the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, which sponsors the contest, because of his record as director of the Child Welfare League of America. He is an authority on social work, especially child welfare. He has aided many groups throughout the country that are working for relief of dependent, neglected, defective and delinquent children.

Dr. D. O. Kinsman has received a letter from Aubrey Williams, secretary of the state social conference, asking if he will arrange a meeting on Oct. 4 at which Dr. Carstens can speak. No arrangements have been made but it is believed that quite a number would like to hear his address on Child Welfare in Wisconsin.

The welfare leader is to visit several of the Wisconsin cities in the contest during his stay. Appleton is one of the five final contenders for the prize of $1,000.

SUGGEST OBSERVANCE OF CONSTITUTION WEEK

Observance of constitution week, in Appleton is proposed in communications which have reached the chamber of commerce. The chamber will not undertake a program itself but will be glad to turn over its literature and suggested programs to any organization that will. The one-hundred thirty-eighth anniversary of the birth of the constitution occurs on Thursday, Sept. 17, and programs are suggested about that time.

U. S. AGENTS CHECK UP LIQUOR IN DRUG STORES

Rumors are current in Appleton that revenue agents are in the city, and have been here for several days checking up on the liquor supply of local druggists. The agents have also visited Green Bay and one druggist there confirmed the report of their visitations by saying agents had called on him to check over his liquor stores.

SUNFLOWERS IN CROWE GARDEN LOOK LIKE TREES

Though Appleton always has been known for the fine crops raised in this vicinity, the city itself is beginning to become famous through the efforts of its gardeners. Daniel Crowe, 1814 N. Division-st., said to have one of the finest gardens in the city, is one of the men adding new laurels to the city's crown.

Tall sunflowers are common in Mr. Crowe's garden, often growing as high as 17 feet. At present he has two sunflowers 16½ feet high and one row in which none is under 14 feet in height. His largest cucumber is 1½ feet long and 4 inches in diameter. He also has a large patch of Dutch black radishes and another of red beets in which every vegetable measures from 8 to 10 inches in length.

The Secret of Success Depends on Health

It is a fact that only about one person out of three enjoys good health. That occasional headache; that tired, exhausted feeling, loss of appetite, the casual cold—all these are danger signals you should heed. Nature is warning you of impending sickness. Seemingly trivial symptoms tell of serious troubles taking root in your body. And yet, ninety-nine people out of every hundred will absolutely ignore these danger signals. As long as they are not flat on their backs, they will fool themselves into believing that they are all right. I want to talk to you. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit does not discourage me in the least. I am helping men and women every day, affecting cures, many times in cases pronounced incurable by others, so that I feel sure I can do much for you. My counsel will cost you nothing, but my charges for treatment will be reasonable and not more than you will be willing to pay for the benefits conferred.

FREE CONSULTATION!

I treat all forms of chronic diseases: NERVE DISORDERS, STOMACH and HEART troubles, URINARY, KIDNEY, BLADDER and SKIN diseases; LIVER COMPLAINTS, DROPSY, GOITRE, PISTULA, PILES, CONSTIPATION, CATARRH, ASTHMA, RHEUMATISM, AND ALL DISEASES PECULIAR TO WOMEN.

Your troubles show your mistakes, and this kind of experience is a terrible teacher; but STRENGTH and HEALTH can be had. Consult me. A physician whose SUCCESS is due to SPECIALIZED TRAINING, augmented by EXPERIENCE, is qualified to give definite, practical aid to sufferers. RESULTS COUNT. MAKE YOUR START TODAY. A decision in the right direction now, may save you years of regret. CONSULT me when I make my monthly visit to APPLETON.

Why Consider a Lesser Car?—It Has Beauty—Performance
—Super-Six Smoothness—Economy and Endurance

This is the greatest Essex value in history. It is the finest Essex ever built. The price is the lowest at which Essex ever sold. The largest production of 6-cylinder cars in the world, giving economies in purchase of materials, manufacture and distribution exclusive to that position, make this value possible alone to Hudson-Essex. The new low price places it within the reach of all, and it has the brilliant performance, reliability, riding ease and fine appearance for which Essex is famous. No wonder everyone is saying these things about Essex.

H. S. STUDENTS UNABLE TO TAKE ALL WORK WANTED

State Regulations and Class Congestion Govern Elective Studies

Congestion in a number of classes at Appleton high school as well as strict rules of the state educational department and the North Central association, which rates high schools of this part of the country, have forced many students to give up courses which they desire, according to H. H. Heible, principal of the school. Complaints have been received from many of the parents because of this and they desired to know why their children are not allowed to take certain types of work which they desire.

Many of the courses are popular and therefore heavily elected by the students, Mr. Heible said. These include domestic science, commercial work, manual training, English and social sciences. The latter two are required at some time in the 4-year course of every student. Consequently all of these courses are filled early and the late comers are left out because of the state regulations in regard to size of classes.

It is not always possible to estimate the number of classes needed or the number of students returning to school in the fall, Mr. Heible declared. In several cases there is no seating room left in the classroom and the students therefore must be disappointed.

Mr. Heible summed up the reasons for disappointing this group of students as follows:

First, there is a limited seating capacity in every room of the building; second, in the case of vocational subjects there is a limited number of desks, amount of table space or number of typewriters as the case may be and no more can be taken care of in the room; third, the North Central Association has a definite limitation on the number of students in classes. Not more than 30 may be assigned to a class. The schools of the group must meet this standard to maintain their rating; fourth, the state department of education at Madison, has certain rules limiting the number of classes assigned to a teacher each day. Not more than six classes may be handled by any teacher in any one day in Wisconsin high schools and this provision must be maintained to keep the high school on the accredited list of the state department of the University of Wisconsin. If a school is dropped from this list, its graduates must pass entrance examinations to get into the state university instead of going right into the freshman class without preliminary studies.

C. C. MEMBERS TO HEAR GAMEL

First Forum Session of Year
Will Be Held Sept. 21—
Choose Place Later

Sept. 21 is the date that has been chosen for the opening forum meeting of the chamber of commerce at which Frank H. Gamel, biology expert, is to be the speaker. The place and final arrangements are to be decided later.

Mr. Gamel will be in the city at that time to address a number of meetings arranged by the Y. M. C. A. and he has made such an impression on commercial clubs in other cities that the chamber decided to avail itself of the chance to hear him.

Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce sent word here that Mr. Gamel's address was one of the finest the members ever heard on a subject of this kind. Other splendid comment has reached the city, and the local arrangements to bring him before its members. It is the purpose of Mr. Gamel to reach the fathers of each city with a message about their relations with their sons, and a chamber of commerce gathering accomplishes this exceptionally well, it is said.

Further announcements will be sent out later. Hugh H. Corbett, secretary of the chamber, declares.

C. OF C. OFFERS AID IN CONVENTION WORK

Any Appleton organizations or persons arranging for gatherings of any size, particularly conventions, may have expert help through the reference library of the chamber of commerce. A new book, really the only complete volume published on the subject, has been purchased for local use. It is entitled, "Conferences, Committees and Conventions and How to Prepare for Them." The book is written by Edward Eyre Hunt of the United States department of commerce, a man who has wide experience in matters of this kind.

PLUMBING CLASS TO BE RESUMED AT TRADE SCHOOL

Itinerant Teacher Again Will Be in Charge of Instruction in Valley

The plumbing course which was started last spring at the vocational school under the supervision of an itinerant instructor will be continued again this year, according to a notice issued at the institution Thursday. The course will be resumed about Oct. 1.

This is the only study offered at the school under the guidance of an itinerant instructor, although it is planned to materialize, it is probably that at least one more course under this plan will be instituted before the close of the year.

Frederick Maeder of Pennsylvania, a college graduate and a plumber of many years experience, it is the itinerant teacher. He will conduct a class here once each week. Other vocational schools in his itinerary are at Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Oshkosh and Sheboygan.

When vocational schools cooperate in this manner, itinerant instructors may be obtained at a reasonable price. One half of their salaries are paid out of federal funds, one-fourth out of state funds and the remaining fourth by the school.

Despite the fact that the course was instituted at the school late in the year, there were enrolled in it three apprentices, twenty-four journeymen plumbers, ten journeymen steamfitters and five settler helpers. All classes except the apprenticeship class are held in the evening. The latter is conducted in the afternoon.

COSTS LESS ON CONCRETE ROADS

Investigation Shows Hard
Pavements Reduce Costs to Car Drivers

Fullman, Wash.—When you plan a touring expedition, choose the concrete roads first, take the macadam roads for second choice and the gravel roads third. This practice will save you considerable money in gasoline and tire cost.

This advice is offered from a study of figures presented by the State College of Washington, where actual tests of gasoline use and tire wear were conducted over these three types of road.

Here, in short, is the tabulated result of these tests:

Ratio of gasoline cost:
Concrete	$10.00
Macadam	11.13
Gravel	15.07

Which means that driving a car over the same distance on each type of road results in the comparative costs shown in the table. It shows concrete, two-thirds as costly as gravel, in gasoline use.

The ratio of tire tread wear, for each type of road, is:

Concrete	1
Macadam	17
Gravel	56

Putting this in terms of money, the ratio of tire wear cost is:

Concrete	$.98
Macadam	16.72
Gravel	56.72

These comparisons are for given distances, speeds and other conditions that are alike on each road over which the test cars were run.

WOMAN SO ILL WASHED DISHES SITTING DOWN

Mrs. Ashcroft's Remarkable Recovery After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Covington, Ky.—"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my household work as I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. I sat down most of the time and did what I could do in that way—washing dishes, etc. One day a book describing Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine was put in my mail-box. I saw how the Vegetable Compound had helped others so I gave it a trial. I had to take about a dozen bottles before I gained my strength but I certainly praise this medicine. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood medicine for poor blood. It was sold all the time. I would be so cold I could hardly sit still and in the palms of my hands there would be drops of sweat. I also used the Sensitive Wash and I recommend it also. You may publish this letter and I will gladly answer letters from women and advise my neighbors about these medicines."—Mrs. HARRY ASHCROFT, 632 Beech Avenue, Covington, Kentucky.

After Others Fail Don't Give Up! HE who hesitates is lost. An old saying, but true, and it has kept many people invalids all their lives. If they had taken their case in its infancy and treated it as if they meant business, they would have averted that operation, its after effects, and the large fee of the surgeon. Not only in health, but the man who has always stayed in the hole and dared not venture out has never made a fortune. The step must be taken if you accomplish good health or wealth. LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-COTT TO RUTH BURKE, CONTINUED

I have talked so much about Karl's poem that possibly it may disappoint you, but if you do not get the real soul and spirit of it, I shall be quite mistaken. Here it is:

A PRAYER FOR EVERY DAY
O Thou, Almighty Power!
Teach me to take from Thee my dose
Of good or ill, and murmur not.
Oh, make my finite mind to grasp
That, in Thy infinite plan, there is No place for my weak cries against
The grief and sorrows of the common lot.

Blot out the ego that doth crush my soul
Beneath its load of selfishness and greed.
And let me know, what now I dimly guess,
The fullness of Thy purposes; for my desire
For which I vainly plead, when placed beside Humanity's great need, sinks into nothingness.
O Thou, Judge over all!

Suffer my mean, ungenerous prayer.
That Thou wouldst change Thy changeless laws,
Which make strict justice, mercy most divine.
To fall upon unheeding ears. Bring me
To feel Thy love, which, all-embracing, wraps

Not only me about, but takes the whole
Great universe within its sheltering folds

Thy way is right; and though in following it
My path leads o'er the plowshare's lurid red,
Still will I trust Thy guidance sure, and say
While yet I lift my streaming eyes to Thee
Thy will be done!

There, dear, I'm not going to spoil the beauty of this poem and the efficacy of this prayer by writing anything more.
LESLIE.

Wider front seats —the widest of any light car built! New 40-inch-wide, undivided front seat, 29 inches wide, 19 inches deep.

Wider back seat

—45 inches wide, 18 inches deep. You know what such ample seating capacity means to the comfort and pleasure of your passengers.

Big, wide windows more than 16 square feet of window space—all the air and all the bright, unobstructed vision of a touring car with closed-car protection, closed-car snugness, closed-car warmth and comfort whenever you want it!

Latest one-piece windshield —especially valuable in tight-driving. Gives clear, unobstructed vision. More easily adjusted—you don't have to fume with it. Adds greatly to the car's appearance. Easy to clean and to keep clean. You need this light-car feature and, in this extraordinary car value, you get it!

Such was the President's order. RESULT? A new-day automobile. A light-car classic. A car-of-morrow at a price unbelievable until today. A full-size 5-passenger Sedan, with sliding-gear transmission, for less than $600—for the first time in history!

Here are the high-spots. Consider them. Check them, point for point, with any car you know that sells anywhere near this price range. Then ask yourself—"In what other light-car can I hope for anything even approximating this phenomenal $595 value?"

... a full-size, 5-passenger Sedan with room and to spare for 5 regular people to ride in ... a smartly-designed car, clean-cut, rakish, low, extraordinarily good-looking! ... body finished in polished lacquer, rich deep blue with glistening jet-black trimmings, as handsome a light automobile as anybody ever looked at.

... a 27-horsepower engine, sturdy, fast, reliable, powerful. A noble hill-climber. A quieter engine because it has fewer working parts. 20-to-25 miles to the gallon, often more—light on oil—hundreds of Overland owners report as high as 15,000 miles without a dollar spent for engine up-keep!

Three-speed, selective sliding-gear transmission—at the lowest price ever available in a Sedan! HUGE CROWD IS PACKED IN CITY FOR FARM FEAST

Political Speeches, Parade and Band Concerts Entertain Thousands of Visitors

Kaukauna—At 9 o'clock Saturday morning it was estimated that more than 5,000 people were in attendance at the Farmer's Harvest Festival being held all day under the auspices of the Tri-Country Fair Association. Special police officers were stationed at the busiest corners and the extra heavy traffic was being managed in an orderly way.

The Oneda Indian war dancers started early in the morning and were parading the streets. The Oneda band was giving concerts at street corners in the business district. Practically every merchant had arranged special window decorations that would interest the farmers. Many merchants offered prizes and special sales as an inducement to get the farmers acquainted with their stores.

Francis E. McGovern and Robert J. Pollette, Jr., candidate for United States senator, were present in the crowd, meeting the farmers. These candidates and State Senator John E. Cashman of Denmark were to give speeches at the grounds in front of the Railway Y. M. C. A. at 1 o'clock. Second-st was closed from the corner of Maine-ave to the Y. M. C. A. The parade at 11 o'clock was one of the largest ever witnessed in Kaukauna.

The Indian war dancers and the Oneda band were engaged to entertain all day and until 10 o'clock at night. After dark all lights on Second-st were to be turned out and the dancers will perform under the glow of hundreds of red lights.

NEW EQUIPMENT IN TRADE SCHOOL

Expect Enrollment of at Least 125 in Vocational School When Work Starts

Kaukauna—Between 45 and 50 students registered at the Vocational school this week although there will probably be about 125 students in school when active work starts next week, according to A. T. Hudson, principal.

A new milling machine has been added to the shop equipment and is being installed. This milling machine practically completes the equipment needed to give the vocational school a first class shop in all respects.

About $375 has been received from the government as federal aid to establish a course in sheet metal work. This course has been in demand for some time.

"There is a possibility that an itinerant teacher may be hired to teach a course in paper making, and as this is one of Kaukauna's most important industries in all probability the course will meet with great favor here," said Mr. Hudson. This course would be taught in the night school only, this year. Night school will not open until about Oct. 1.

COACH DRILLING H. S. GRIDDERS

Hopes Hard Work and Constant Practice Will Develop New Stars

Kaukauna—By strict training and hard workouts, Coach William Smith hopes to overcome the loss of 12 veterans, and to turn out a winning team for the high school this year. Although the coach is pessimistic, he nevertheless intends to keep the boys hard at work and if that means anything then Kaukauna will again turn out a team that will be a credit to the school.

The schedule for the year includes games with several schools that are way out of Kaukauna's class.

About 35 boys were on the field for practice Thursday night and the squad is expected to grow to about 40. Calisthenics and exercises that tend to develop body muscles are on the program this week. Actual scrimmages, tackling and blocking practices will start next week. A lot of running is included in this week's program in order to give the men endurance.

A practice game will be played Saturday with a "coach" team composed of alumni in order to give the coach an idea of the possibilities of his new material. No game has been scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 6, although negotiations are under way with several high schools.

DISCUSS RACE FOR PIGEONS

Bird Fanciers Will Fly Their Birds from DeKalb, Ill., Next Sunday

Kaukauna—At a special meeting of the Kaukauna Pigeon racing club Friday evening, several new rulings were made and plans were discussed for shipping birds on Sunday, Sept. 20.

About 150 birds will be flown from DeKalb, Ill., next Sunday, a distance of about 200 miles. This is the longest distance the local club has attempted and the outcome is being awaited with interest, as the birds are being flown against the advice of several old pigeon men who claim that it is not good to fly young birds over 50 miles.

Birds belonging to Frank Van Agtmeal made a good showing last Sunday when they won first, second and third places in the flight from Janesville.

Members of the club who have birds entered in the race this week are Albert M. Ludtke, Frank Heimke, Carl Ploetz, Edward J. Ludtke, Norman Lange, Jacob Killian, Robert Bernard, Clifford Brandt and Thomas Reardon of Kaukauna, Jack Roeland, Frank Van Agtmeal and Herbert Roeland of Appleton.

One of the questions discussed at the meeting was what could be done to apprehend the man or men who are shooting the doves. Many of the pigeons fly down the river to the rapids where the water is low, and feed, and every day some come back with legs shot off, and many do not return at all. The matter was referred to a committee.

KITTO RECOVERING FROM HIS BLINDNESS

Kaukauna—Norman Kitto, who was stricken with blindness some time ago as the result of a carbuncle on the back of his head, and who has been at Niles, Mich., for some time receiving treatment that seems to be successful, is visiting in the city and will be here for about three weeks. His wife, who accompanied him, is here also.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitto, expect to return to Niles about Oct. 1.

START LARGE ADDITION TO MACHINE SHOPS

Kaukauna—Work is well under way at the construction of an addition 55 feet wide by 55 feet long to the Central Machine Works. The new building will be connected with the old one, which is located at 135 East Wisconsin-ave. The structure will be of steel and concrete and is expected to be finished within two months. The work is being done under the supervision of Huro Lemke, owner of the Central works.

Mr. Lemke said that when the new building was completed it would be possible to run an old car in at one end of the building and when it came out at the other end it would be rebuilt. A new steam washing system, a special painting system, electric and greasing apparatus and an equipment for overhauling cars will be installed.

Mr. Lemke started the Central Machine works about three years ago.

BUSINESSMEN OF SOUTH SIDE JOIN NEW CIVIC CLUB

Merchants Show Enthusiasm Over New Organization to Boost Kaukauna

Kaukauna—Committees were at work Friday calling on the business men of the south side in an effort to get them to join the Business Men's association which was organized some time ago. Members of the committee are M. A. Raught, chairman, Carl Runte, William Feller and Charles Curry. The latest report was that the business men of the south side were highly in favor of the plan and that many of them would be present at the big meeting next Monday evening.

The first big event is the fall style opening, the first in Kaukauna. Although committees have been appointed to take charge of the affair, the meeting is being called for the purpose of explaining the aims of the business men's association to those not already enrolled and to enlist them in putting over the first style opening.

The feature of the evening will be a style parade in which automobile dealers will enter new models of cars. Floats, a band, free souvenirs thrown from cars in the parade and clowns galore are some of the features planned by the parade committee, consisting of A. H. Frank, Edward Grebe, George Egan and Anton Haen.

Every merchant in town will arrange special lighting and decorating of his show windows and will offer premiums to attract the people in to his store. Special decorations and lighting are being arranged for by a committee. The band and other items of expense will be paid by popular subscriptions, and the committee in charge of soliciting is Earnest Sasnowski, chairman, J. A. Mertes and Gordon Van Lieshout.

Arrangement of the affair are made by a general committee consisting of Percy Chamberlain, chairman, H. K. Derus, Joseph Krahn and Herbert Haesly. The general committee is planning, surprise and contests that will be open to the public and it was reported that several of the local clothing stores might arrange a style show at one of the local theaters.

When the ladder started falling Towse tried to avoid being hit, but before he could get out of the way the ladder struck him. MAKES BRICKS BY MILLIONS

Zerrenner Company Plans Enlargements of Its Equipment to Take Care of Growth

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Zerrenner Brick company is on the home stretch of a prosperous season. More than 2,000,000 bricks of the 3,000,000-a-year quota of the industry have already been made and shipped, and the company will have burned the quota by the end of the season, which comes in the latter part of October. The yards owned and operated by Otto and Albert Zerrenner, employ about 15 men.

The firm installed a new kiln this year, which makes four of the round down draft type in use. Another new one will be constructed next year. The aim of the firm is to construct six of this type and then install an artificial dryer, which would enable them to increase their output by 2,000,000 bricks. Six kilns are required before the dryer can be installed, however. The dryer operates by using the waste heat which is present after the burning of a kiln.

The clay on the site of the yards is exceptionally good for the production of brick. It is scooped off the top to the extent of ten feet. At the present time there are about 15 acres untouched, and it is estimated that enough clay remains in these deposits to last the company for a least another 50 years.

The present firm of Zerrenner brothers has been in the brick business for the last 30 years, and has grown to the extent that its product is shipped to all parts of the United States. Only about 5 per cent of the output is sold locally.

GET CONTRACTS OF BOXERS IN FIRST SHOW

Signed contracts of the boxers who will appear here on the card scheduled by the Appleton Athletic club for Sept. 21 were presented to the club at a meeting at Hotel Conway Friday evening by Charles Braun, manager of the Miller theater, Milwaukee, and representative of the local club in that city. Proposed plans for further activities also were taken up by the club members.

at the Elite theatre today and Saturday. Norman Kerry is starred, with Patsy Ruth Miller as his leading woman. Others in the cast are Philo Humes, Joseph J. Dowling, Philo McCullough, Harry Todd, Frank Newburg, Rosemary Cooper, Doreen Turner, Jackie Goodrich and W. Stewart McCrea.

COLLEEN HERE SOON IN WESTERN COMEDY

Laughs legitimately lured, and tears, too, are evidence that "The Desert Flower," to be seen at the Elite Theatre, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is made of the stuff which makes the heart beat faster and the cheeks glow more brightly. It is healthy, honest comedy drama, free from acrobatic stunts, and presents chief Colleen Moore in a role that will boost her following tremendously. Lloyd Hughes is foremost in Miss Moore's support in "The Desert Flower." Irving Cummings directed the offering, which is released through First National.

"THE KISS BARRIER" IS NOVEL PHOTOPLAY

A rather new treatment of motion picture plot is incorporated in "The Kiss Barrier," a new William Fox production starring Edmund Lowe, at the New Elgin Theater Monday and Tuesday.

The old saying "the villain still pursued her," is out of place. To fit "The Kiss Barrier" it should be "the villain still pursued him," for in this interesting photoplay the real villain is a girl—a regular vamp who tries all sorts of machinations to thwart the hero in his purpose.

Mr. Lowe portrays the role of Captain March, an aviator who falls in love with Marion Weston, a pretty ambulance driver. The war over, he returns to the stage. After over-riding many obstacles, the gallant Captain March wins her.

The role is ideal for the popular Fox star and he gives a very capable performance. "Clair Adams" in the role of Marion Weston, is quite dashing. By her clever acting, Marion Harlan lifts Marion's cousin into a very major role. Thomas Mills, Diana Miller and Charles Clary—every one a trouper—add interesting characterizations to the entertainment.

EXTREME CARE TAKEN BY MAKER OF RADIO SETS

Atwater Kent Sets Are Famous for Precision of Their Parts

A radio receiving set, which has no chance of being anything but an A number one outfit is the Atwater Kent, because of the exhaustive tests and many minute inspections every new piece of mechanism on the set must pass through before it is turned over to the production department to be made up in public quantities and put on public sale.

The Atwater Kent radio sets are sold in Appleton by the Wilson Electric Shop, 314 E. College-ave., and are very popular with radio "bugs" even though the Wilson shop has only been handling them for a very short time.

The factory where Atwater Kent sets are made is the largest and finest in the world devoted exclusively to the making of scientific electrical instruments. As the plant is built especially for this purpose it is the last word in manufacturing efficiency. The Atwater Kent factory is located in Philadelphia.

What is said to be the most noteworthy feature having to do with the manufacture of Atwater Kent sets is the time and attention devoted to various inspections and tests. These tests are not merely for the finished apparatus, but for each separate part as it progresses through the plant to the final assembly benches. One out of every ten employees in the Atwater Kent plant is an inspector, and a typical receiving set is subjected to 140 gauge and physical inspections, and 19 electrical tests before it is allowed to leave the factory.

Parts most subject to wear and tear in an Atwater Kent set are made of such high grade and durable materials, and are so cleverly designed as to last a lifetime if treated with ordinary care. All dials, panels, knobs and other parts where looks, strength, and electrical nonconductivity are essential are of Bakelite. All metal parts are protected from moisture by heavy coats of baked enamel or double coats of lacquer. The original cost is practically the only cost of Atwater Kent radio sets, as there are no parts in them which will wear out. The only additional cost is the cost of operation, a trivial sum at most.

An Atwater Kent "log" card is supplied with each set sold, so the owner can tune in a long series of desired stations and by writing down the dial readings, station letters, and name of the city, make up a valuable list of "logs." When once logged in this way a desired station can be returned to at any time by referring to the "log" card.

Atwater Kent radios are not manufactured with the idea of establishing distance records in reception, any more than the highest grade of automobiles are made with the idea of establishing new speed records for both automobile and radio manufacturers realize that dependability and low maintenance costs are of much more interest to the public than claims of speed or distance, which are usually the results of more careful planning and particularly advantageous conditions.

While Atwater Kent sets have repeatedly enabled their users to "hear the coast," or "listen in to London," the company encourages all attempts to sell equipment based on any such claims.

NORTH AMERICAN CO. TO EARN 100 MILLION YEARLY

The North American Co. will have an annual gross income of more than $100,000,000 a year after the purchase of the Western Power Co., according to reports issued by the purchasing company.

Gross earnings of the newly acquired subsidiary in California will be in excess of $18,000,000 this year. This income, together with $34,000,000 a year for the present holdings of the North American, will make a gross total earning power in excess of $100,000,000 per annum.

The Western Power Co. has nearly $5,000,000 of bonds, $3,500,000 of preferred stock and 212,000 no par common shares on which earnings are about $3 a share. The purchase of the common stock of the western company will involve about $16,000,000 if made for cash, or about 274,000 shares of the common stock of the North American Co., if exchange is made.

Better Condition In Business Recognized

Babson Park, Mass. — Roger W. Babson has just completed his summer survey of the business situation to secure data as to the fall outlook. He finds a small but real improvement in the situation since his last analysis six months ago. A summary of his conclusions is as follows:

"Basically the United States is very dependent upon the crops. During July the grain crops of the country did not progress very well, but during the month of August conditions have improved. Although the wheat crop will fall below that of last year there is little reason for complaint. Moreover, the corn crop seems sure to run in excess of the short crop of last season, barring possibility of early frosts. Oats, also, promise a larger crop than the July report indicated, and the same applies to several of the other grains. Despite the pessimism in crop reporting circles we are to have a good yield of cotton this year. My own guess is that it will run around 12,500,000 bales, which is a substantial yield, and at prices which will be satisfactory to the South. For a time the Texas crop has been holding the center of the stage owing to the specially bad conditions in the central counties of that state. Yet conditions change very rapidly in Texas, coming up almost as quickly as they go down, and it is very possible that the Texas crop will be considerably more than the earlier current reports indicated.

"Exports are showing some little recovery from their low point of June while imports are running along about the same as during the preceding six months. Both the exports and imports of August exceeded those of August 1924. For the eight months of the calendar year we have a balance of trade, on the export side, of over three hundred million dollars which is in excess of the first eight months of 1924. As to how this country will be affected by the settlement of the Belgian loan, the future can tell only the future can tell.

"BETTER FEELINGS EVIDENT
"Statistics clearly indicate, not only that conditions are better throughout the country, but what is very important, that this fact is being generally recognized. All through the year the volume of business as indicated by both bank clearings and car loadings has been good, while profits, owing to keen competition, have been small. As the average business man looks upon profits rather than volume he has been rather pessimistic. During the past few weeks, however, there has been a real change of sentiment in several sections. Money has remained easy; the iron and steel trade is more hopeful; building continues active; coal is in better demand; and the general run of commodities is firmer. Lead has been especially active and copper has advanced.

"The only clouds in the horizon—at the moment—are the unhealthy stock market speculations, the serious condition of the textile industry and the increase in unemployment conditions in certain sections. New business is smaller than at this time last year, but production and shipments are still heavy. The business of the large insurance companies is very heavy, statistics indicating that more than three and one half billion dollars were paid during the past twelve months by the American people for life and property insurance. An increase in both retail and wholesale food prices seems to be taking place, although not to any alarming extent.

CAR LOADING HEAVY

"The most significant figures are the freight car loadings which for several weeks this summer averaged over one million freight cars per week. These are very remarkable figures. Moreover an analysis of these figures shows that the increase has been all along the line and is not devoted to any one specific item. The greatest increase of all is shown in road and building materials, especially on the

STEELS BUSY DESPITE LITTLE RAIL BUYING

Cleveland, Ohio—Iron Trade Review this week says:
Lacking railroad buying in volume to give it a decided impetus, the steel market still is able to establish some progress toward greater strength and stability. General consumption of steel according to trustworthy signs is continuing to expand slowly but none the less steadily. This is to be read in the surprisingly even record of week to week tonnage coming to producers, based in large measure on freshly created necessities; in some overflow of orders to be carried on mill books; and in a slight recession of deliveries of material now more discernible in several directions.

The weekly changes in operations are on the side of slight gains. Chicago plants are running 75 to 80 per cent full and those in the Pittsburgh district 70 to 75 per cent. The Mahoney Valley sheet industry is active on an 87 per cent basis this week. Stabilization of finished steel prices appears to be making better headway and in some products such as sheets, buyers are showing an inclination to lend their cooperation to this movement.

More Building in United States in August Than in Any Month in History

Last month had the highest total of construction contracts on record, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. New construction work started in the 36 Eastern States (which include about 75 per cent of the total construction volume of the country) amounted to $589,690,200. The previous high record was in March of this year, with a total of $546,970,700. The August increase over July was 11 per cent; over August, 1924, 66 per cent.

Construction started in the 36 Eastern States during the past eight months has reached a total of $3,778,792,000, an increase of 25 per cent over the corresponding period of 1924, and by far the largest amount for any similar period of any year. At the end of June, this year was 15 per cent ahead of 1924; at the end of July, 20 per cent ahead; and at the end of August, 25 per cent ahead. This shows the rapidity of the rise in building activity during the past few months.

MEYER PRESS IS FAMOUS FOR ITS "AD" CAMPAIGNS

Merchandizing Experts Able to Plan Complete Selling
Campaigns for Customers

There are many manufacturing firms of small and medium size which do not get the amount of advertising their products merit, because keeping a separate advertising department in factory, with a staff of two or three highly paid and efficient advertising men necessities an expense which is only possible for the larger manufacturing plants to bear. But there is a means for smaller plants and moderately large plants to advertise their wares very effectively by direct advertising, and this means is the direct advertising service of the Meyer Press, printers and publishers, who have gone into direct advertising service on a very large scale during the last three and a half years.

vertising needs of any firm be taken care of at the Meyer Press Co. from the planning of the advertising matter in whatever form it may be to the prospective customers. The Meyer Press, for instance, just worked out a complete advertising campaign for a certain company, which conceived the idea of putting up dried peas in small cartons and having them retailed in this fashion, rather than the old unattractive method of selling dried peas in bulk.

For this campaign the Meyer Press designed and made window cards, show cards, counter cards and folders to be used in stores in advertising the dried peas. It has also made recipe booklets for stores to give to customers, and made up a four page advertising letter to send to prospective dealers. The Meyer Press writes all the copy, does all the art work and engraving work, and turns the completed job over to the customer, after which it keeps in touch with the customer to see how the campaign is working out, and is always ready to offer further advice and suggestions. In some cases the Meyer Press even makes out a mailing list of prospective customers which it submits to the customer.

The Meyer Press plans what form the advertising campaign will take with due regard to timeliness of the product, and marketability of the product. Small sketches are drawn to give the customer ideas on the kind of advertising he should use. The advertising work of the Meyer Press ranges from the smallest leaflets and pamphlets to catalogs containing hundreds of pages.

In addition to the direct advertising work the Meyer Press is expanding its reputation as a builder of high quality high school and college annuals. Last year the company turned out annuals for 15 high schools and colleges.

OXYGEN DEPLETION BLAMED FOR DEATH OF FISH

CHEMICAL TESTS SHOW EXTENT OF WASTE IN RIVER

Larger Flow of Water Only Remedy for Serious Condition, Experts Say

Lack of oxygen is killing fish in the Fox river, a chemical analysis made Friday by Arthur J. Hall, city chemist and superintendent of the municipal pumping station, and representatives of the state conservation commission, shows. While water at Lake Winnebago contains almost 100 per cent oxygen, it tests less than 4 per cent in Appleton.

The state is taking steps to prevent such conditions, but nothing toward immediate relief can be done, it was learned Friday afternoon when officers and directors of the Outagamie county Fish and Game association met at Hotel Conway with C. M. Baer, state sanitary engineer, who stopped off here on his way to Green Bay. The only remedy is a larger flow of water through the river, he pointed out. He added that within another year or so a definite plan for the prevention of such conditions probably would be worked out by the state. H. L. Bowley, Walter Hughes, W. H. Zuehlke, Mark Cathin and Alfred Bradford attended the meeting.

E. J. Tully, state chemical engineer, S. J. Gault, conservation commissioner from Rhinelander, and Louis Jeske, conservation warden, were in the city Friday and, with Mr. Hall, took samples from the river at numerous points between Lake Winnebago and Kaukauna. They found that the water at Kaukauna contains scarcely any oxygen, only one half of 1 per cent showing up there.

NO MORE DEAD FISH
There is a progressive decrease in the amount of oxygen in the water from here to Kaukauna and a more or less irregular increase from here to the lake.

The chemists worked from the Cherry-st. bridge toward the lake in the morning and from the same bridge to Kaukauna in the afternoon. The trips were made in a government boat. They reported that the condition which existed in the forepart of the week in which hundreds of fish died has practically disappeared and that they did not see a single dead fish Friday.

The analysis disproves the generally accepted theory that the fish were being killed from a single cause, especially from the waste water poured into the streams from paper mills. The waste helps to deplete the water of its oxygen content, but it is only one of several causes, the chemists pointed out. The dumping of sewage in the river at many places and the decomposition of plant life are all factors.

The fact that water is extremely low this year has also helped to make conditions abnormal. In explaining the death of fish, the chemists said that fungi, floating freely in the water, catches on the gills of fish, making it almost impossible for them to breathe. If the oxygen content of the water was higher, they might be able to withstand the fungi, but with only a small amount available, they choke to death.

Although a larger flow of water through the river would greatly alleviate the condition, it will be impossible to open the sluice gates at Neenah because of the low level of lake Winnebago, according to Col. Gilbert Van Wilkes, district engineer of the United States war department at Milwaukee, who communicated with H. L. Bowley, secretary of the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association.

WHAT'S HAPPENING TO WISCONSIN?

conclusion, it can be taken as fairly conclusive that the presence of a local market created by the industries exercises a benevolent effect on the farms."

To bring out his point in this connection, Mr. Smith cited the figures on farm bankruptcies in the two districts covering a term of years. The upper row of failures is for the eastern and lower row for the western district. This totals 72 for the eastern and 264 for the western district as follows:

1917	1918	1919	1920
1	1	3	6
5	8	8	14
1921	1922	1923	1924
7	9	23	23
4	23	87	115

It was interesting, too, although pertinent to this particular point, to study the farm bankruptcies in connection with those of other lines. In point of complete losses that forced them into receiverships and bankruptcies, the farmer has been in much better condition than those in the cities as a rule.

SURVEYS ILLINOIS FARMS

"In the western district of Wisconsin."

sin," continued Mr. Smith, "during the eight years studied, there were 264 farmers whose affairs reached the federal referee. In this district there is a total of 114,782 farms, a pretty high record of general prosperity. This is especially so when compared with the wage earners during the same years and in the same territory. Of the strictly wage earning class, there were 400 forced to seek relief in bankruptcy."

"Merchants, too, had a much higher record of business mortality than did agriculture. There were 357 merchants who became bankrupts and 54 manufacturers, which, considering that they were far fewer in number than the farms, shows that they were unable to survive."

The investigation was continued outside of Wisconsin to include a number of the important agricultural states of the Middle West and the same condition was found to prevail.

"In the northern district of Illinois," continues the article, "which contains Chicago and the rural districts adjacent to it, there were 159 farm bankruptcies during the last eight years, while there were 2,782 failures of wage earners and 1,434 merchants. In the eastern district, which is purely agricultural without any large cities, there were 272 farmer failures with 325 wage earners and 524 merchants."

"Thus in the rural Illinois district there were almost twice as many farm failures as there were in the northern district in which Chicago is situated to provide a local market and to stimulate the general rural conditions."

Similar figures demonstrated the same relation between town and country in Missouri and Minnesota. The folks whose farms were located near St. Louis and Kansas City in the one and the Twin Cities in the other, enjoyed a much lower rate of failure than those not located near any center of population.

IOWA HAS HIGHER RATE

"Just so a study of the figures showing bankruptcies per ten thousand farmers in twelve central states made a convincing case for those cities which developed a strong industry as well as sturdy agriculture," the articles says. "Wisconsin ranks third among the states in 1924 with 7.2 failures per ten thousand farmers. Michigan, with its huge automobile industry and profitably manufactures, stood first in rank with only 2.2 failures. Indiana, a strong industrial state, was second with 4.9; Illinois fourth, with 5.2, then Missouri with 5.3, and then a rapidly increasing percentage of failures as the states without important industry were recorded, ranking as high as 9.7 for

Montana and 104.5 in North Dakota. "Even Iowa, rich agricultural empire that it is, but lacking in any important industrial centers, suffered 32 farm bankruptcies per ten thousand farmers."

"This study was only one angle, however, of the investigation to learn whether industry was worth preserving. Farm bankruptcies might not be considered altogether conclusive, so the inquiry was directed to the farm mortgages and the relative number of foreclosures in counties which contained an industrial center. This part of the investigation had not been completed at the time of this writing, but it had made enough progress to prove pretty strongly that the conditions suspected did actually exist."

"The sheriff of each county was asked by an official of a state department to report the number of mortgage foreclosures within the year. Their replies were entered on a map of the state, both the actual number and the number per thousand farms. This map, when completed, will make a strong testimonial to the value of an industrial center in any agricultural community."

INDUSTRIAL COUNTIES MORE PROSPEROUS

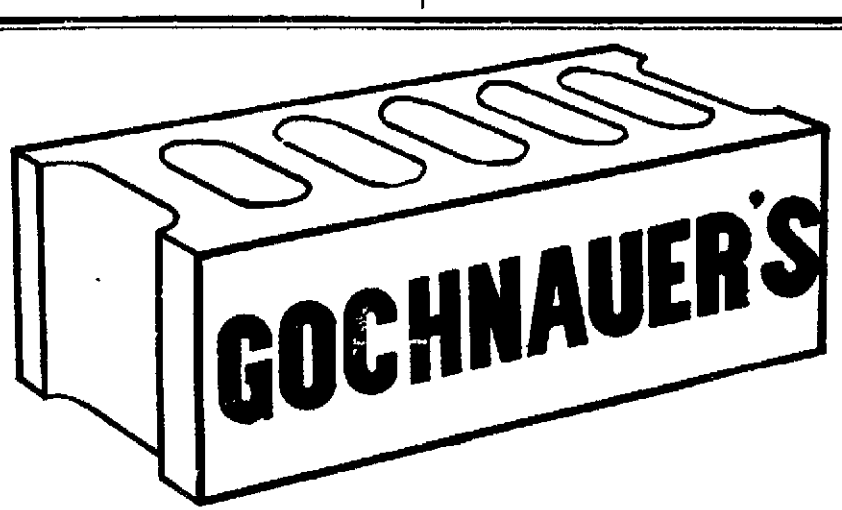

"Enough counties, however, have been reported to show a tendency. Thus, for instance, Racine county had three farm mortgage foreclosures each in 1923 and 1924, or 1.3 foreclosures per thousand farms. Milwaukee county had three foreclosures in 1923 and two in 1924. That is 1.1 per thousand in 1923 and less than one in 1924, the lowest figures reported for any county. Dane county, with Madison to provide a rich local market, had 1.7 foreclosures per thousand farms and La Crosse county, including the only city on the western boundary with more than 25,000 persons, had the same figure, 1.7 farms per thousand.

"This figure is decidedly lower than in many of the strictly rural sections, in some of which the foreclosure rank as high as 12 per thousand, while a figure of about six or seven per thousand is common save for exceptional agricultural counties.

"The expectation is that when the map is completed, it will show a graphic picture with each of the nine cities of more than 25,000 population in the state shown as a center of a higher degree of agricultural prosperity than is enjoyed by more remote districts."

"—a performance record positively unique in America's motor car annals" now emphasized by

tremendously reduced prices

PEOPLE BUY THIS CAR, first and foremost, because of its 100% performance-rating—on the basis of what it has done and is doing, daily, in the hands of more than 200,000 serenely satisfied owners. . . . In the most drastic public and private tests to which any automobile has ever been subjected, the Willys-Knight has come through absolutely clean—one of the few cars that, in 10 years' time, has never once had a single black-mark registered against it!

PEOPLE BUY THIS CAR because of the unique engine-principle it has promulgated—"an engine you'll never wear out." The patented Knight sleeve-valve motor, pioneered by the Willys-Knight, has established a new and advanced standard of practice in automotive construction. For here is a power-plant that actually and visibly improves with use—improves in horsepower, improves in fuel efficiency, improves in smooth and silent running. . . . Good at your first 5,000 miles, better still at 50,000—at 100,000—and over, your Willys-Knight achieves its prime—it is then a more powerful, quieter and more efficiently engined car than the day you bought it!

PEOPLE BUY THIS CAR because it needs less attention, less adjustment than any other. 25,000 miles, with not a dollar spent for engine repairs, is an every-day Willys-Knight story. And many's the Willys-Knight has been driven double that distance with never a wrench or a tool to touch it!

PEOPLE BUY THIS CAR because it gives them exactly the same type of engine they find in the most costly European-built automobiles—Panhard, Peugeot, Minerva, Daimler-Knight. Among these are the cars King George of England, the Prince of Wales, King Albert of Belgium and other royal personages favor most for their personal and private use—a list of the Knight-engined-car owners among the Old World nobility reads like a verbatim transcript of the Almanac de Gotha!

PEOPLE BUY THIS CAR because it knows no carbon troubles—it has no valves to grind. The Knight sleeve-valve idea does away with both! . . . The Lanchester Balancer is another important exclusive Willys-Knight feature. An ingenious English invention that positively prevents engine vibration at any and all speeds. Owners will tell you emphatically that smooth and restful driving and riding, particularly at high speed, is practically impossible without it!

PEOPLE BUY THIS CAR because of its definite acceptability from the woman viewpoint. A flexible car, exceptionally easy to drive. A commodious car, extraordinarily comfortable to ride in. And from the standpoint of smartness of design, richness of atmosphere, completeness and elegance of appointment—your Willys-Knight typifies "all that the gentlewoman could possibly desire in an automobile", as an owner pregnantly puts it!

These are the reasons why you, too, will want the Willys-Knight when you give it your close personal examination. See it at the show-rooms listed here. Ride in it. Drive it yourself. A comprehensive list of owners in your own locality is available to you. Ask them about it. Then consider these SUBSTANTIALLY REDUCED PRICES! On any count by which you may appraise the desirability of an automobile, you will find the Willys-Knight more nearly approaches your ideal of what a motor-car should be and do than anything your experience has yet discovered!

BLANCHARD HITS BLAINE IN PLEA TO ELECT WILCOX

State Senator Condemns State Administration for Its Extravagance

Neenah—Tax reduction, encouragement for industry, economy in the state government, preservation of forests were among the important points discussed Friday evening by Senator George Blanchard of Edgerton, in S. A. Cook armory.

Blanchard urged the election of Roy F. Wilcox to the United States senate.

Mr. Blanchard's talk followed a band concert in front of the armory. The audience was not large but became interested from the start.

"We are interested," he said "in a greater and better Wisconsin, so let us start house cleaning not only for the present but for the future."

"It is time that we return the searchlight on such men as the LaFolletts, Blaine, Eckern and Beck," he said, "his condemnation of the administration."

"Who would you trust to secure our foreign debts," he asked, "Coolidge who will get what is coming to this country, or Bobbie who will try his schemes. Let him try to collect from his friends, the Russians first and then make a settlement with France and the others."

In criticizing Gov. Blaine and his methods he compared the extravagant program of the state with the Coolidge economy program. He declared the time is ripe for getting rid of the thousands of office seekers and during the last few years. "Coolidge's leadership was unchallenged," he said "and stands on record of performance. 'Coolidge has saved almost 50 per cent of administration expenses while Wisconsin has increased 37 per cent in taxation,'" he said.

He said the conservation has failed miserably because of Blaine. "Our forestry programs have failed," he said. "The administration is unresponsive to the needs of the hour. The money from licenses which should be turned into a fund for conservation and nothing else, is now being turned in to a general fund and wasted extravagantly."

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

GRAHAMS MAKE SPEEDY CLIMB TO LEADERSHIP

Truck Shipments of First Half Year Equal Whole Output of Previous Year

Official figures showing that Graham Brothers shipments of 10,000 trucks for the first half of 1925 equalled their entire 1924 output are no surprise to those who have been watching the rapid rise of this company to its present position in the industry. Graham Brothers trucks equipped with Dodge Brothers engine were first offered to the public early in 1921. It was in 1921 that there was such general business depression in almost every industry in the United States. The truck industry, in particular, suffered heavily. The total 1921 production fell 54.2 per cent below 1920.

"Although there was a general impression in 1921 that people were not buying trucks," says Mr. R. K. Wolter of the Wolter Imp & Auto Co., local Dodge Brothers dealer, "the enthusiasm of the owners of the first of these rugged, powerful, dependable Graham Brothers trucks led to an immediate and rapidly increasing demand. With an increased number of owners, and satisfactory service available at Dodge Brothers dealers everywhere, came the good will which belonged to a worthy product. The soundness of Graham Brothers policy of supplying the best truck they knew how to build at the lowest possible price has been demonstrated by the rise of Graham Brothers in the short period of five years to the position they now occupy—first in the production of 1½-ton trucks and among the leaders in the 1 and 1½-ton fields combined.

"Comparison of the annual growth of the truck industry with that of Graham Brothers emphasizes the rapidity of their advance. Total production of trucks of all makes in the United States in 1921 was 54.2 per cent less than in 1920. In 1922 it was 21.5 per cent less than 1920. In 1923 the industry surpassed its 1920 figures by 21.9 per cent. In 1924 it was only 16.2 per cent ahead of 1920. Graham Brothers 1924 sales exceeded their 1921 sales by 254 per cent. 1923 sales exceeded 1922 by 105 per cent. 1924 exceeded 1923 by 54 per cent—and now, at the end of the first half of 1925 the entire 1924 output has been equalled.

"Daily production of Graham Brothers trucks is now 40 per cent higher than in January, and is being further increased to supply the demand. Retail deliveries during the summer months of June and July, which are generally regarded as low months in the truck industry, have held up to the record deliveries established during March and April."

CHVROLET NOW PAST 2 MILLION IN MANUFACTURE

Company Expects to Produce Close to Half Million During Present Year

The two-millionth Chevrolet built Sept. 8 establishes a new record in automotive history. The Chevrolet Motor company is the first maker of selective gear shift cars to attain this production. "Passing the two-million production mark emphasizes Chevrolet's progress," said W. S. Knudsen, president of the company. "The present record should not be the last as the company expects to produce close to a half million cars during 1925 which will exceed by a wide margin the 1923 Chevrolet peak production."

When the first "Baby Grand" touring model was turned out at the Flint plant in 1913, Chevrolet production for that year totaled only 5,987 which would represent less than three days work. The original plant would be lost today among the huge buildings of the organization which include motor, pressed metal and assembly plants at Flint, Mich.; six other assembly plants at Turfsvon, N. Y., St. Louis, Mo., Oakland, Cal., Janesville, Wis., Norwood, O., and Buffalo, N. Y.; three factories at Detroit for the manufacture respectively of gears, axles and forgings; a transmission plant at Toledo, O., a small parts factory at Bay City, Mich., and an export assembling plant at Bloomfield, N. J. The company occupies 167 buildings with a total floor space of 6,555,227 square feet. The various plants occupy 345 acres.

The first Chevrolet, purchased by the company a few years ago from the original owner, is still in perfect running condition. At the conservative average of 10,000 miles per car, the two million Chevrolets produced since the completion of this first Chevrolet represent 20,000,000,000 miles of transportation or more than 40,000 round trips between the earth and the moon. Placed end the 2,000,000 Chevrolets would form a traffic jam 4,655 miles long.

The Chevrolet Motor company at 12 years old is a comparative new comer in the automotive field. The gigantic strides which it has made are illustrated well by the fact that nearly one million of the two million cars produced so far were made during the last two years.

As the company grew, improved machinery permitted more cars to be built per employee, marvelous precision equipment rendered possible quick and accurate assembling and the resultant increase in production gave the advantage of tremendous purchasing power.

These factors formed an endless chain continually pulling down the cost of manufacture, an advantage which consistently has been passed on to the purchaser. The result is that the two millionth Chevrolet, a Fisher body coach with refinements, improvements and stamina undreamed of a decade ago, now sells at figure more than $300 below the price of the original Chevrolet touring car which sold for $1,000.

The company's position in the automotive industry was strengthened further in 1918 when it became one of the units in the gigantic General Motors corporation. The executive offices are in the General Motors building at Detroit.

Disregarding the idea of yearly models, constant efforts are being made to improve the car. But changes even of the most minor variety, are made after long and grueling tests over the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground at Milford, Mich., not far from Detroit, where seven Chevrolet cars, operating night and day, are making a total mileage of 75,000 monthly.

GRAHAMS AGAIN REDUCE PRICES
Lowering of $100 on One-ton Truck Became Effective on Sept. 9, 1925.

Announcement of a reduction of $100.00 in the price of Graham Brothers one-ton truck, effective September 9th, has been received by Wolter Imp. & Auto Co., local Dodge Brothers dealer. "So substantial a reduction in the price of this popular one-ton truck, coming less than four months after the announcement of a previous reduction of $50.00," says R. K. Wolter, "is in line with previous assurances that the truck buyer will always benefit equally with Graham Brothers in every economy effected through increased production. "Graham Brothers, now first in the world as exclusive manufacturers of motor trucks, are able to make this second reduction and at the same time to make even further improvements in the quality of their trucks. "In addition to their greatly increased production—their production for the first six months of 1925 was equal to the entire output of 1924—the enlarged and improved facilities afforded by the new factory into which Graham Brothers moved July 1 have aided greatly in making possible these reductions in manufacturing cost."

HERE IS METHOD HOW TO STOP 10 FEET SPEEDIER

Russell Manufacturing Company Makes Brake Lining Said to Fill the Bill

If those motorists who have "close calls" could experience for a moment the sensations of those who "actually hit," there'd be more attention paid to brake power than motor power these days. A life lost, a car smashed, your life wrecked by the remembrance—can laxity in the care of brakes ever be justified? "If I had only been able to stop ten feet quicker—the accident would never have happened—" how often that is heard. Most accidents could be prevented if the brakes were powerful enough to stop the car in a few feet quicker. Fortunately, state and federal authorities now realize this and many laws on stopping distances have been passed.

The Russell Manufacturing Company, makers brake lining known as "Rusco," conducted an investigation among many of the cities and states having a law in force regarding stopping distances and found that the average police stopping requirements call for the ability to stop in 35 feet from a speed of 20 miles an hour and in 55 feet from a speed of 25 miles an hour.

Then some people whose cars had Rusco lined brakes made tests for the Russell Company before witnesses. These users then signed statements of the results of the tests before a notary public. These tests, according to the signed statements which the Russell Company have in their office in Middletown, Connecticut, proved that "Rusco" Brake Lining is actually capable of stopping a car from six to fourteen feet quicker than police stopping requirements.

This is a very fine recommendation for their product, for as the Russell Company very truly says, six to fourteen feet of leeway will often mean the difference between a hit and a miss. In fact, it is no exaggeration to say that it is often the difference between life and death.

It is also claimed that because "Rusco" Brake Lining is made from the finest Canadian crysolite asbestos, because of the special solution with which it is impregnated, this lining has equal braking efficiency in both wet and dry weather.

If these be so, it certainly seems that our "Uncle Sam" made no mistake in adopting "Rusco" Brake Lining for use on government vehicles after an exhaustive test by the Bureau of Standards of some sixty different brands, including all the well-known brake linings.

MILLERS AMONG OLDEST IN LINE
Tire Company Was Organized by Jacob Pfeiffer and Others 35 Years Ago

Akron, Ohio—Closing the first third of its century of its existence, The Miller Rubber Company stands among the oldest as well as among the largest in the rubber industry. The company was organized by Jacob Pfeiffer and his associates thirty three years ago and with a very small capital the manufacture of rubber gloves was started.

At that time the factory consisted of a small, one story frame building with a thousand feet of floor space. Now the company's factory buildings have a total floor space of well on to a million and a half square feet. The company, which started in humble circumstances a third of a century ago, has grown to a sixty million dollar corporation, and has become one of the strongest industrial organizations of its kind in the United States.

It now has branches and distributors in nearly forty cities of the United States there are distributors of its products in more than sixty foreign countries. Miller products are known and used throughout the entire world. The small line of manufactured articles that comprised the output of the original plant grew until now it includes tires, mechanical goods, bathing and household supplies, infants' specialties, water bottles, surgeons' supplies, toys, and a number of other articles. Although the growth of the company has been remarkable, even more so is the co-operation of its leaders and executives. Practically all who organized the business and guided it on its early venture still are connected with the organization. Manufacture of automobile tires, started more than fifteen years ago, has placed the company among the leaders in the tire industry. This has been helped through the development of the "Calflex" Cord construction, the flat tread and the low ply tires—improvements that are piling up increased mileage records every day.

TEST CREDITS CHRYSLER WITH 21 HORSEPOWER

Manufacturer Says One Can Drive All Day Without Overheating Engine

According to the S. A. E. formula, the horsepower of the Chrysler Four is 21.03. It actually delivers 35.5 Uniform fuel distribution to all cylinders, complete combustion, perfect valve action, highly efficient operating temperature, ample capacity of cooling system and generous water jacketing of cylinder walls and valve ports are factors that make this noticeable general efficiency possible. "You can drive this car all day under heavy load or at top speed and the engine will not overheat or lose power," Mr. Chrysler continues.

Engine lubrication is by positive, full-force feed, sending a continuous flow of oil under pressure to all main bearings and, through drilled passages in the crankshaft, to all connecting rod bearings. A cushion of oil at these points is called well worth the extra cost by engineers, rather than having the metal-to-metal contact and rapid wear common to splash oiling. The entire car is called remarkably free from vibration. Elimination of it is due to balancing all rotating and reciprocating parts; short, heavy and rigid crankshaft in conjunction with light pistons and connecting rods; dynamic balance of all parts that revolve such as crankshaft, clutch hub and flywheel; and matching of connecting rod and piston assemblies to the fraction of an ounce.

"But the engineers have not stopped there in disposing of vibration," Mr. Chrysler continues. "One of the most unusual features is the method by which the engine is isolated from the frame to prevent the disturbances of road irregularities from being transmitted to it through the chassis. The engine front end is mounted on a floating platform spring. Its usual rigid bolting to the chassis frame at the front end is entirely lacking. Fastenings of the rear engine arms to the chassis have rubber bushings and pads interposed, eliminating the destructive contact of metal with metal. Thus the engine is literally cushioned on rubber at that point. The combination of these two unusual features means complete insulation against vibration in the chassis frame."

This ingenious arrangement, Mr. Chrysler says, gives no opportunity for rumble, or tremor, or "rattle" the car or its occupants. It promotes an unmistakable smoothness to engine and chassis operation particularly, he says.

Chassis is of unusually sturdy construction. Added to the customary

FORDSON USING BOSCH GOVERNOR

Device Automatically Controls Operation of Ford's Tractor Engines

A new throttle governor for automatically controlling the operation of the Fordson tractor engine has just been placed on the market by the American Bosch Magneto Corporation, of Springfield, Mass., prominent manufacturers of automotive electrical equipment and car accessories sold and serviced by the local Willard Battery Station.

The new Bosch Governor is remarkably sensitive. It is quick to respond to the slightest increase or decrease in load, instantly adjusting the throttle so as to maintain an absolutely uniform speed. The Bosch Governor is dustproof and waterproof. It is simple in design, ruggedly built, and will give thoroughly dependable service for years without any attention except oiling and an occasional cleaning. It is easy to install, and easy to adjust. Anyone can do it.

The speed at which the Fordson operates is determined by the tension of a coil spring supplied with the Bosch Governor, and attached to the governor control arm. This spring tension may be changed quickly by regulating two wing nuts. The speed selected will be maintained without further attention, but should the operator wish to change the speed at any time, he may do so by using the hand throttle. The automatic control may be cut out at any time by simply disengaging the spring plunger which connects the butterfly control with the governor control. This can be done in an instant.

The Bosch Governor may be installed on all 1925 Fordsons without modification of the fuel system. Fordsons equipped with the No. 234 Holley Governor should have No. 230 Holley substituted before the Bosch Governor is installed.

The Bosch Governor is made in two types: Types GT—used with the Fordson timer. Type GM—used with Bosch Magneto.

Should anyone using Type GT Governor install Bosch High Tension Magneto ignition, he can easily change the Type GT Governor into a Type GM, and use it with the magneto fitting.

design of strong, stiff cross members is a stout tube at the front, and a wide, strong integral brace of heavy gauge metal at the rear. Frame weaving and distortion—the two actions which loosen body bolts and set up squeaks—are thus largely overcome. The radiator is also bolted rigidly to the chassis frame side members.

FORD TO GRATIFY CURIOSITY SOON

Dealers Experience Difficulty in Getting New Cars, but They May Be Seen Shortly

Curiosity of a lot of people is going to be satisfied this week. Anyway, indications point in that direction. Ever since announcement of the improved Ford cars was made just about every man, woman and child in town has been on the alert for a glimpse of the new cars.

A few of the Touring Cars reached dealers during the last week, but not near enough of them were distributed to satisfy the curiosity of the populace. In the first place, every dealer experienced some difficulty in securing cars—some were only able to get one—and in the second place, after the dealer got the car he had a hard time keeping it—someone wanted to buy it right away.

Several hundred people, however, have been able to get a peep at the new Touring Cars and everyone of them is firmly convinced that they sure are attractive automobiles. The Aug. Brandt Co. are expecting the coming week will bring them all the new body types, both open and closed. If this transpires, it is certain that the dealers show rooms are going to be the most popular places in town, for everyone is eager to see and inspect all the new Fords.

TRACT IN WASHINGTON IS STILL UNEXPLORED

Bellingham, Wash.—(AP)—One of the last unexplored frontiers of the United States lies in Whatcom-co, 50 miles east of Bellingham.

The district, which embraces approximately 200 square miles, lies between Sourdough mountain and Mounts Baker and Shuksen. It contains an almost impenetrable forest and a number of unnamed mountains whose elevations reach to 8,000 feet. The county is a great game sanctuary, there being seen around the edges of the district large black, brown, and silver-tip bears, deer, and other wild animals. One of the mountains contains big glaciers.

Forestry rangers, who have a lookout station north of Sourdough mountain, declare that hikers can work into the heart of the district along the high levels of Sourdough Mountain and along arms of other peaks of the range. They doubt whether pack horses can be taken into the center of the district. Two-thirds of Whatcom-co is in a forest reserve. Less than a third has been surveyed.

The next morning Gloria was awakened by a loud knocking on the door of her room.

"Te-ee," she called in a thick sleepy voice. She had been dreaming that she was still in the lonely hotel room in New York.

Then she heard Dick's voice. "Better get up, Gloria," he was saying. "There's no Rangh'd to bring you breakfast this morning, you know."

Gloria didn't answer at once. The door was not locked. . . . Why didn't Dick come in to say "hello" to her?

Oh, all right, she made up her mind suddenly, if he wanted to keep her at arm's length, she'd help him out!

"Thanks, I'll get up when I feel like it," she said. But the old snap and spirit had gone out of her voice. There was silence for a few seconds, then the soft pad-pad of Dick's feet going down the stairs.

Before he had reached the bottom, Gloria was out of bed on her bare feet.

Dick looked up in surprise as she ran down into the hall.

"I think you might have been a sport and made some coffee for me," she said to him.

"Do you?" Dick asked politely. There was no color in his voice. He picked up his briefcase from the table in the living room.

"Yes, I do," Gloria cried. "I think it's mean of you to treat me like a red-headed stepchild when I've come back and told you I'm sorry. Do you know you haven't spoken a kind word to me since the night I showed you Stan Wayburn's letter? . . . I suppose you never had a letter from a woman in your life! I suppose you never did anything you're ashamed of! You're so darned pure!"

Woman-like she seized upon the half-forgotten letter incident as a peg to hang all her discontent upon, now.

Dick didn't answer. He crossed the room to his old writing desk. . . . the only bit of furniture that he had brought with him from his old home.

He took from it a bundle of letters and photographs, and tossed them down on the table without a word. There was a queer cold smile on his face. . . . as he went out.

The front door banged. In the stillness that settled down over the house, Gloria could almost hear her heart beating.

Did Dick mean that she was to look at the letters? Was there an answer to her question in them? Was that what the smile on Dick's face had meant?

She picked them up, and loosed the rubber bands that held them together. The letter that lay on the top of the pile was the one she read first. It was written in blue ink on dull blue paper, and it smelled faintly of violets.

"Dick dearest," it said. "I am sick of tearing up the letters that I write to you. I am tired of pretending—and so I am going to tell the truth to you. I love you, Dick. I love you. It is hard for me to write this letter. . . . Lucie."

"Lucie" had not found it so hard to write the half dozen letters that followed, it seemed. Some of them were ten pages long. And all of them were signed with "Love and kisses from Lucie." That seemed to be her stock phrase.

Under "Lucie's" love notes was another package of letters. These were all from a woman who signed herself "Roxie." Roxie's letters were passionate, to say the least.

"She must have been reading Eliot or Glyn," said Gloria to herself, with amusement. To think of good old Dick having a love affair with a woman like Roxie! . . . Gloria giggled inwardly.

At her laughter died when she came to the photographs that had been tied up with the letters. One was a picture of a lovely blond with bobbed hair.

Bobbed hair! Then Dick must have known her within the last few years, since bobbed heads had become the fashion!

the bottom was written, "Gleehrist's house party, June, 1923."

Only two years ago! "Well!" Gloria said to herself, a little out of breath. "What do you know about that?"

She wondered if the girl in the snapshot were "Roxie" or "Lucie." She read the letters again—as if, perhaps, they might yield up their secret the second time. But she was just as puzzled as before.

She pondered all morning as she went around the house with a silly feather duster that only stirred up the dust in the rooms instead of clearing it away.

A dozen times she came back to the living room table to look at those two pictures. She wasn't worried about the "Roxie" letters. . . . but the girl who had written the "Lucie" letters had evidently cared deeply for Dick.

Had cared for her, Gloria wondered?

She couldn't think of Dick caring for any woman save herself. She couldn't bear the thought of his holding another woman in his arms and telling her that he loved her.

And yet, of course, he had! He must have! Not only one but two women. Otherwise they would never have written him all these love letters. . . . They wouldn't have cared for him.

She took the letters with her out into the kitchen, and read them again while she ate the cold canned salmon that was all the lunch she had. She propped the two photographs up against the mirror of her dressing-table while she dressed late in the afternoon.

She had never thought of any other women being Dick's life, before she met him. And yet there must have been, of course. . . . But he had been so much in his arms and from that first night when he had kissed her that she had never dreamed of any other woman. . . . the thought had never worried her at all. It had not even ruffled her vanity.

While she sat there brushing her hair, he telephoned rang. "Hello, Gloria," it was Dick's voice. "Are we going to have dinner at home tonight?"

Gloria gasped. "Who's going to cook it?"

"Why don't you make a stab at it?" Dick asked. "No time like the present, you know."

"Oh, no," Gloria objected. "I couldn't. And besides there's not a thing in the house."

"All right, suit yourself," Dick's voice was remotely polite. "I'll eat downtown then, if you don't mind. Good-by."

But Gloria did mind. She minded very much. . . . There was nothing she enjoyed more than having a meal downtown. And Dick knew it! Gloria stamped her foot. What did Dick think she was, anyway? Some kind of a doormat that he could trample on?

Did he think that he could have a fine meal downtown, with a waiter hovering over him, while she sat alone at home and ate a couple of sandwiches? . . . Did he really think she'd let him get away with it?

Well, she'd show him where to head in! . . . She would get dressed this very minute, and march straight downtown to his office! She would go out to supper with him or know the reason why.

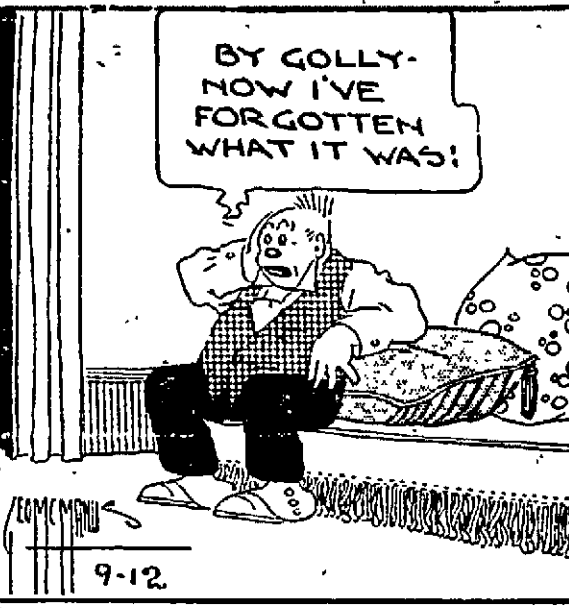

"Mama goes where papa goes. Or papa don't go out tonight," sang Gloria at the top of her voice, as she turned on the faucets in the bathtub. Then she remembered that the song was Stanley Wayburn's favorite ballad. She stopped singing. She wanted never to think of Stan Wayburn again, so long as she lived!

For the last six months Gloria had thought that she was in love with Stan. There had been something in him that called to her. . . . his devil-may-care quality, his everlasting cheerfulness.

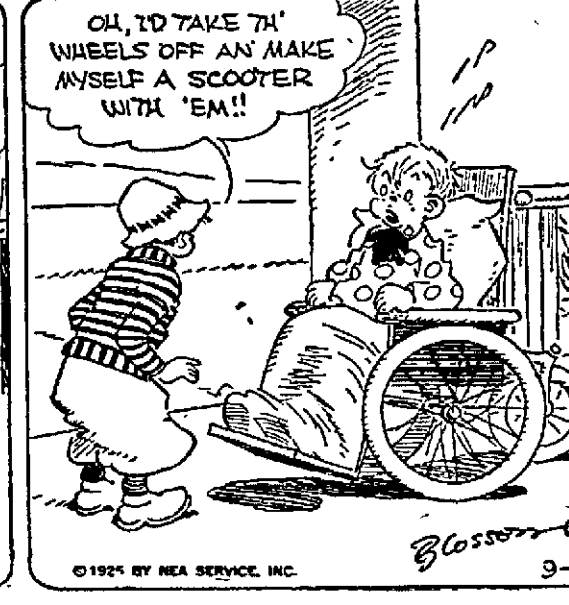

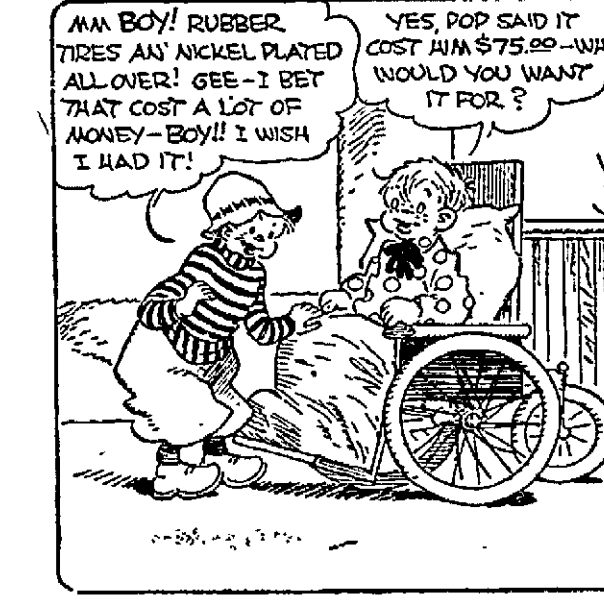

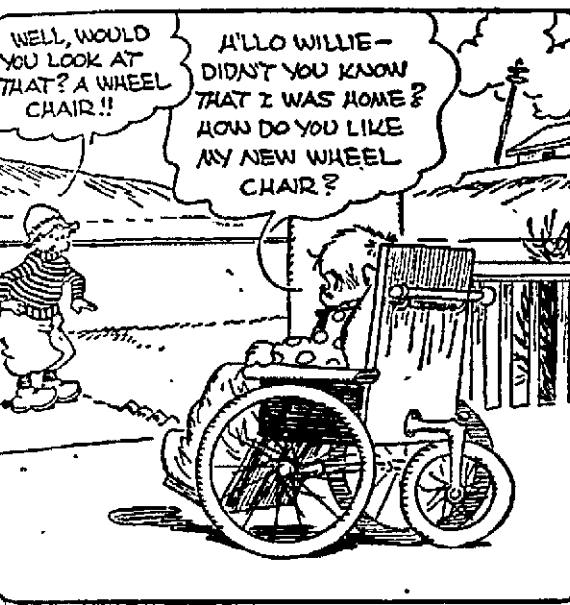

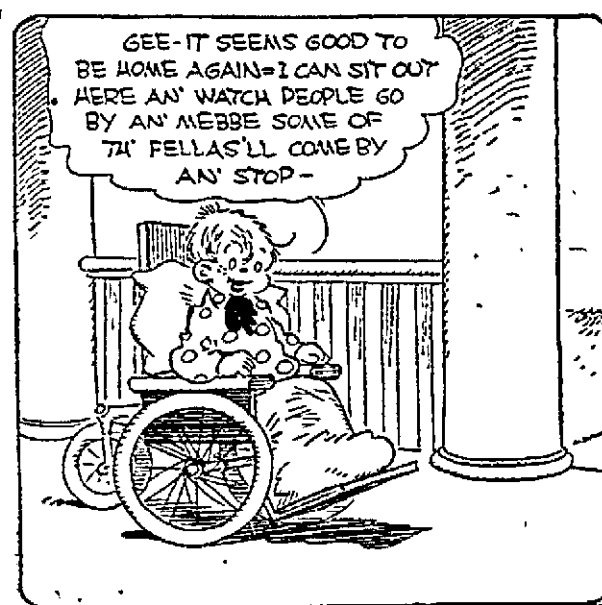

But when she found out that he didn't love her, it had not broken her heart. It hadn't even touched her heart! . . . It had hurt only her pride. That was the thing that cowered in her ashamed. . . . the thing that wouldn't lift its head. Her pride in herself. Her vanity.

ORANGE GRID SQUAD COMPLETES ITS FIRST WEEK

Fighting Mac Has Green But Promising Material To Build 1925 Grid Team

Line Should Stack Up Well in Race; Entire New Backfield Must Be Developed

With one short week of practice behind them, Appleton high school's 1925 grid boys working under the direction of Fighting Mac McAllister, new-Orange manager, are beginning to show real possibilities for a good season. Mac has had his boys working hard every night and concluded the week's grid with a hard workout at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The spirit of fight which Mac is instilling in his boys should carry them along to a fight for the conference title this year, in spite of only fair backfield material. A practice session at the old Lawrence field sounds like a pep meeting, the way the squad "hoops it up" and every boy is on his toes the whole session.

TO BE WELL CONDITIONED

The change will be one of the best conditioned crews in the running when the season starts. Mac started the boys with a real workout and the trials become harder each day. No scrimmage has been attempted yet, but backfield crews are carrying the ball and lines are tearing into other lines to tackle a ball carrier. Mac will have as strong a line as any in the conference, outside of the ends which must be developed. His backfield material is fair but promises to come through in great shape under his expert tutelage.

LINE LOOKS GOOD

Uebelacker, center of the 1923 team, and a boy who showed up Sam Kresky, 190-pound Marquette pivot man for the last three years, in the Purple game that year, is looking better each day. He will meet Kresky again this year. "Eby" has not had much competition as yet, but he uses his hands and feet in a shifty manner, and works hard all the time. The rest of the line also is coming through in great shape and any forward wall in the conference probably will have to play above its usual standard to break through. Every one of the line candidates is a husky with plenty of fight. Men who look good for the first week's work include Ashman, Voecks, Lethen and Pfeifferle with several others showing up well also. Pfeifferle is the only man out who has ever played an end job before, but several men look like prospects. Pfeifferle also may be used at a guard or tackle job.

Developing a backfield the new coach has, only one man who has ever tried a rear wall job but one combination which he worked on the latter part of the week looks like the real dope. Mac can develop it. The quartet, which consists of Kitefinger and Johnson at halves, Steenis at full and Kneip at quarter, does not know an awful lot about rear wall dope but it is a hard-working bunch that can be taught in great shape.

This quartet should be ideal with a heavy line, although the loss of Steenis, crack lineman, will weaken the front defenses greatly. Every man of the four with the exception of Kneip at quarter is practically as heavy as any of the linemen and each has plenty of speed. Big Ed Steenis, 1925 captain, is one of the heaviest men on the squad, but is plenty fast in his feet. He should be able to hit any hole opened by the line in great

Johnson Is Prospect

Johnson, a sub backfielder last year while a frosh, shows promise of developing into the sensation of the conference under Mac's teaching. At present he is handicapped by a slight injury, however. Chuck has plenty of weight and is one of the speediest men on the field, especially for a 170-175 pounder. He is a nice punter and is a tough man to hurt. He takes most of the knocks standing. Max Kneip, former New London grider, and a forward on the 1925 cage squad, looks good at quarter or half. He is short but husky laid, quick to learn.

In Kitzinger, sub end last year, Mac may find another speed merchant of huge dimensions. With a good backfield last year "Kitty's" speed kept him at end in spite of an extra amount of beef for a high school wingman. He should make a good man for a punter or a waiting attack such as a short off tackle smash. Another man who shows promise is Ed Rammer.

LA CROSSE HIGH DOPE

Paul Gebke, 1924 halfback, is aiding Mac by plunging against the linemen in the workouts. La Crosse high reported 60 men out to the first workout. The squad which meets the Orange in their opener at La Crosse has 17 veterans, though only a few earned their letters last year. Miller and Bauman, ends, Welch and Muller, tackles, Bauch, guard, Bunge, center, Palmer, quarterback, and Capt. Rindler, star of last year's Appleton game, fullback, have left the ranks.

First team prospects to report were: A. Grabinski and Gantenben; Ed. Cohn, Schilling, Schneberger, Tanke, Grokowski and North, guards and tackles of last year's team; Reiman, substitute center of 1924, and Kelly and Sullivan, quarterbacks; Captain Wateski, G. Grabinski and Regat halves. Among the new men this year to wear first team suits are "Teddy" Sewoski, slated as a fullback and Lawrence Smith, a junior league, probably as a halfback.

At present Coach Finley is casting about for a capable kicker and passer, and will look over all of the promising new material in view of plugging gaps in the line.

LOUISVILLE COPS

A. A. PENNANT

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—The Louisville Colonels Saturday are the uncrowned champions of the American Association. By their victory over Toledo Friday, 8-4, the Colonels clinched the 1925 flag, their second in five years. The club has won 99 games and lost 50 and is 18 games ahead of the second place Indianapolis Club. St. Paul won the pennant last year.

New York — Because of the New York State athletic commission's ruling Jimmy Slattery was required to shave off a 4-day's growth of beard before entering the ring.

Hamilton, N. Y.—Football practice at Colgate university was curtailed when the members of the squad were taken ill with ptomaine caused by eating spoiled meat.

BUSY WEEKEND AT BUTTE DES MORTS CLUB GOLF LINKS

Big Interclub Match on Saturday and Crack 36-hole Exhibition on Sunday

A busy weekend is in store for members of the Butte des Morts Golf club and their friends this week, with two of the most important events of the year scheduled for Saturday and Sunday on the links of the new club. Saturday the club sharpshooters face the Riverview men in an attempt to atone for a bad beating at the Riverview links earlier in the season. On Sunday, Frank Walsh, club pro, and Ken Dickinson, state amateur champ, go 36 holes with two Milwaukee stars, Billy Sixty and Ben Lovickim.

VISITORS HAVE FINE RECORDS

Records of the crack Milwaukee golfers received by the club Friday shows the kind of competition the local men will meet on Sunday. Lovickim, former Green Bay pro, is a former state open champ, having won the Wisconsin title in 1921. Sixty, a star Green Bay amateur, and golf scribe for the Journal has a record to be proud of, most of it coming in 1924 and 1925, showing that Sixty is now at the peak of his game and will play real golf here. The record includes the following:

Wisconsin public links champion, 1924; Milwaukee county champion, 1924; medalist and finalist, state championship, 1924; semi-finalist, state championship, 1925; winner pro-amateur event in the western open championships, 1924.

INTERCLUB PAIRINGS

Pairings for the big seven match between the two local clubs were completed Friday. They are as follows: C. S. Dickinson (B) vs Jack Stevens (R); Dr. G. T. Hegner (B) vs George Gilbert (R); Neal Spoor (B) vs D. W. Bergstrom (R); Dr. W. E. O'Keefe vs C. S. Spickerman (R); D. P. Steinberg (B) vs Dr. G. N. Pratt (R); W. D. Barnard (B) vs E. D. CRIMSON SQUAD SHY VETERAN MATERIAL

Harvard will have but few veterans around which to mold the 1925 gridiron team. Spalding, Gerhke, Hammond and other stars have graduated. But with Coach Charlie Daly on the job Crimson admirers are anticipating a winning outfit.

GOLF As Champions Play It

THE BUNKER SHOT SHOULD BE PLAYED

WITH THE WRISTS & ARMS

In making a bunker shot, what should be the footwork?

BY GLENNA COLLETT
Former Woman's Champion

There should be practically no footwork used in a bunker, particularly on the back swing, the stroke being played almost entirely with the arms and wrists, more so on short than long shots. With a long shot from a shallow bunker, the swing, however, does not differ from an ordinary iron shot.

OLD BLUE STAR GETS MILWAUKEE COACH JOB

Lyle "Liz" Blackburne of Lancaster, star tackle on Lawrence college grid squads during his college days, and freshman coach last year, has been appointed head coach at Washington high school, Milwaukee, one of the newest and best high schools in the Cream City. The new coach starred on the crack W. A. T. C. team of the Blue school coached by Mark Catlin while a frosh. He left school the next year, but returned in time to play two more years at tackle, captaining the squad his senior year. He was unanimous choice for all-state honors his last two years in school. He also was known for his work on the mat and ring.

Last year Liz coached the frosh grid and came and handled many interclub sports. His wrestling team beat Ripon in the only intercollegiate match, losing only one match and that to Ripon's coach. The former Blue star is in charge of a school that has some of the best material in the city and should turn out fine teams. Lavvie Dilweg, Bob Deering and Mr. Lethen, Marquette football stars are graduates of Washington high as are many other college grade, grid and cinder stars. Blackburne is a member of the Delta Iota fraternity.

MANY VETS BACK

Beside the old men in uniform a good bunch of promising material in the form of how men will be on hand for Ashe to work on. Only two vets of former Legion squads will be lost this year. Schradner will return to school this year while Fritz Olm will be unable to play. Vets who helped make the eleven the fear of all state amateur crews in the last few years, who have reported to date include: Carl Anderson, Nic Mortis, Rip Brenzel, Bugs Brenzel, Tot Rabideau, Sylvester Rabideau, Carl Engstrom, Billy Galmbacher, Cyril Rabideau, Sylvester Rabideau, Carl Engstrom, Galmbacher, Cyril Rabideau, Leo Lyman, Ronan Hayst, Carl Bem, Mils Tunnis, Heinie Olm, Bryon Reardon, Leo Spindler, Jake Howde and Gib St. Mitchell.

GIANTS AND MACS CONTINUE FIGHT

Second Place Squads Win Close Victories to Stay in Running for League Titles

New York—(AP)—Although the flag race in the major leagues have been practically sewed up by the Washington and Pittsburgh clubs, the Athletics and Giants Saturday are fighting desperately to remain in the running.

With the veteran Walter Johnson in the box Friday the Senators crept closer in the pennant struggle by winning from Boston, 5 to 4.

The victory permitted the Griffins to continue their seven game hold on the first place for the Yankees, 3 to 2. "Lefty" Groves was on the mound for the Athletics and while the Huggins tallied 11 hits, he kept them well scattered.

With Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, a spectator, the Giants turned the tables on the Robins, 4 to 2, in the opener of a series. Meantime the Cardinals whacked out a 5 to 3 decision over the Pirates, cutting Pittsburgh's lead on the top rung to seven games.

The Braves persisted hard on the heels of the Cardinals for fifth place by drawing an even break in a double header with the Phillies. Boston took the first game, 6-4, while Fletcher's club annexed the second, 4-2. As the Browns idled with the White Sox on account of rain the Bengals moved within half a game of third place by polishing off the Indians, 5 to 4. Detroit also took a 2 to 1 lead in the series.

FLAGS IN MAJOR LOOPS STILL ARE A BIT UNDECIDED

Washington and Pirates Must Cop Majority of Remaining Games to Hold Leads

Chicago—(AP)—Although fandom generally is hailing Washington and Pittsburgh as the contenders in the 1925 world series, both clubs are far from the point at which they may congratulate themselves on being sure winners.

Seven game leads held by both leaders loom large with the clubs having roughly twenty games remaining on their schedules. Washington must win fifteen games before it can be mathematically certain of a slice of the world series mien and the Pirates must take twelve.

MACKS MAY FIGHT

With both the Senators and Athletics finishing the season with a big majority of their games in their own parks, it is possible that the veteran Mack may yet pull his club up to dispute Washington's title.

The New York Giants have full line up now available while the Pirates have suffered the loss, probably for the rest of the season, of Johnny Rawlings.

Merry fights for third and fourth places are being waged in both leagues.

Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis are jockeying for the two remaining first division positions in the American League and St. Louis, Cincinnati and Brooklyn are all within striking distance in the National loop.

SLATTERY LOSES CHANCE AT CROWN

Burly Paul Berlenbach Scores Technical K. O. Over Buffalo Middleweight

New York—Paul Berlenbach continues to reign king of the light heavyweights. In his first defense of the title he acquired by a decision over Mike McKigue last May, he scored a technical knockout over Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo middleweight after 1 minute and 28 seconds, in the 11th round at the Yankee stadium Friday night.

JIMMY IS HANDICAPPED

Weight and experience counted against Slattery. He entered the ring 104 pounds lighter than the champion and it was his initial start over the fifteen round distance, as the fact that he was under 21, had limited him to six rounds previously.

Slattery fought gamely to the last. His downfall started in the eighth with savage blows from Berlenbach. Slattery was groggy in the ninth and in the tenth he was floored three times, the bell coming to his rescue.

In the eleventh he went down three times for the count of nine and then the referee held Berlenbach's hand up.

MARINETTE LOSES STAR QUARTERBACK

The first serious casualty of the 1925 grid season in a valley high school camp fell to Marinette one of the strongest schools in the group, when Wally Voightman, the quarterback who played such a nice game against Appleton here on Thanksgiving day last year at Lawrence field suffered a severely sprained arm. The ligaments were badly torn and it will be four or five weeks before it can be removed from a cast. The accident occurred just a few minutes before Coaches Johnson and Grignon were about to call a halt to the evening's activities.

Coach Johnson is making a frantic search through his squad and also the entire male population of the school to find a man to lead the Purple forces. Walker, Kuchenberg, and DeTemple, are looked upon as the best bets to fill Voightman's shoes. If DeTemple is shifted to quarterback it will be a gaping hole at halfback that will be very hard to fill. As no one as yet has been found among the hopefuls to step into his place, in all probability it will be found necessary to fall back upon Walker and Kuchenberg to bear the brunt of the battle until Voightman is ready to resume his position.

BROWNS GIVING SOX BATTLE FOR THIRD

The St. Louis Browns, by virtue of a sensational spurt against the eastern teams, have closed up most of the wide gap that existed between the White Sox and the Sinner entourage a few weeks ago. And it now looks like Eddie Collins has a real fight on his hands to keep the Comiskey outfit in third place. The Tycers, by the way, are also closing in on the Chicagoans.

JOHN LOWE RESIGNS AS SCHOOL TREASURER

John Lowe has resigned as treasurer of the Fourth district school board because of ill health and will go to Phoenix, Ariz. with his family to spend the winter. Mr. Lowe's resignation was presented at the meeting of the Fourth district school board at the McKinley school. He has held the office of treasurer on the board for five and one half years. No one has been elected to succeed Mr. Lowe.

Not so many weeks back the Cards' manager looked to have the 1925 clouting crown fairly well clinched. He had a commanding lead at the time. But up from the old rank and file came Bottomley bent on dethroning his chief, if possible.

It would, indeed, be a rather odd turn of the wheels of Fate if Hornsby were to have his batting string halted by one of his own charges.

BOTTOMLEY HAS CHANCE TO BEAT OUT ROG HORNSBY

Star Card 1st Sacker Expected Race His Manager Down Final Stretch for Bat Honors

St. Louis—Rogers Hornsby, player-pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, has led the National League in batting for five straight seasons. From 1920 to 1924, inclusive, he's topped the field, setting a modern record of .424 last year.

On each of those occasions he's had the honors pretty safely tucked away long ere the end of the chase. In other words, Hornsby has been so far out in front by the first of September that there wasn't a chance to catch him.

This year things stack up a bit different, however. For the great son, he's a most formidable rival. He is Jim Bottomley, stellar first baseman on the same club.

With the campaign going into the final stretch, Bottomley is close on the heels of his illustrious manager. And, while he might not be able to bridge the existing gap and nose out the boss, he nevertheless looms as Hornsby's stoutest rival for batting supremacy.

Bottomley has been hitting the sagate on the proverbial nose all season. He's been winning a mean club just like he did two years ago when he crashed through with a mark of .371.

Hornsby has set as one of his pet ambitions the breaking of Ty Cobb's record of nine straight championships. With five now to his credit he has fond hopes of plowing through as many more seasons at the head of the procession, thus hanging up a new mark.

Not so many weeks back the Cards' manager looked to have the 1925 clouting crown fairly well clinched. He had a commanding lead at the time. But up from the old rank and file came Bottomley bent on dethroning his chief, if possible.

It would, indeed, be a rather odd turn of the wheels of Fate if Hornsby were to have his batting string halted by one of his own charges.

KAUKAUNA SQUAD STARTS WORK FOR HEAVY SCHEDULE

Plenty of Veterans Back to Keep Up Record of State Amateur Championship Team

Kaukauna — With practically an entire veteran squad which put Kaukauna on the state amateur grid map with a vengeance in the last five years, reporting for the first work-outs, Coach William "Bill" Ashe will attempt to put another state championship team on the field this year. The Electric City American Legion crew, coached by Ashe, has copied the title for the last few years by whipping the best Wisconsin could offer in the amateur line and has had to play, and incidentally beat, much heavier semi-pro crews to get competition at times. Coach Ashe may have to leave for the east soon so he is hustling the work along and working his men hard.

PRACTICE 4 NIGHTS

The year's schedule, which opens with a game with the strong Sturgeon Bay City team on Sept. 27, is being completed and football fans of Kaukauna and surrounding territory are assured of witnessing some of the best amateur squads of the state in action against the Ashmen. Practices are being held on four evenings of the week at the Kaukauna ball park. Men have been asked to report on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

New York—A new agreement for a title bout between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills was ordered by the New York Boxing commission.

New Green Bay Stadium Is Ready For Opener Sunday

Green Bay—When the football fans of Green Bay and vicinity pass through the gates at the new City stadium for Sunday's football game between the Green Bay Packers and Iron Mountain Professionals they will use for the first time one of the finest football fields in this part of the state.

For the past eight weeks, construction work has been hurried along at top speed, and the new field will be in readiness for the big crowd of football spectators when the gates open at 12:45. The line of the field is at 2:15. The ticket office at the park will be opened at 10:30 a. m., every Sunday morning.

The stadium was designed for the comfort of the spectators. The seats are roomy and the aisles wide enough to eliminate any confusion. Every seat in the park, grandstand and bleachers offers a splendid view of the gridiron.

4 ENTRANCES; TEN EXITS

There are four entrances and ten exits. The entrance gates are located along the south and west sides of the field. The general admission gate will be at the southwest corner of the park. Holders of reserved seats in sections A, B, C, D and box seat sections C and D will make use of the entrance located at the west end of the field. This entrance will also be used by the players when they leave the Armory to come on the playing field.

Those having reserved seat are asked to use the E, F, G, H, entrance on the south side, of the field located close to the East high school building. The "Knot Hole" gang will rule supreme at the east end of the field and the entrance for

Former Woman's Champion

There should be practically no footwork used in a bunker, particularly on the back swing, the stroke being played almost entirely with the arms and wrists, more so on short than long shots. With a long shot from a shallow bunker, the swing, however, does not differ from an ordinary iron shot.

FIND JOG IN PAVEMENT ON SOUTH CHERRY-ST

with other maps and data on file at the County Surveyors Office at Appleton.

"We find that the Grand Chute Plat is bounded by Locust, Seventh and Elm Streets. This Plat was made by John Stephens, County surveyor, 1850, and describes Cherry-st as an absolutely straight line. The area north of Grand Chute plat, and south of College-ave, was not platted, but was sold by metes and bounds. The field notes of surveys of this area by John Stephens, County surveyor, office describe Cherry-st as a straight line, and in perfect alignment with said street in the Grand Chute plat.

"Contrary to what you say has been reported to you, a glance at the city map will show no section line on Cherry-st or Fifth-st. The section line between sections 34 and 35 lies west of Cherry-st and the north line of section 34 is the center line of Spencer-st. The plats mentioned above are based upon these sections.

"The center line of Cherry Street is defined by a straight line drawn between a stone monument placed at the intersection of the center lines of College-ave and Cherry-st, and the intersection of the center lines of Cherry St and Prospect-st, the same being 544.91 feet east of a stone monument placed at the intersection of the center lines of Prospect-st and Locust-st.

Starting at the north side of Prospect-st, at its intersection with Cherry-st, the pavement is 3 of a foot too far east; on the south line of Third-st it is 5 of a foot too far east; on the north line of Fourth-st it is 25 of a foot too far east; LEGION RESUMES MONDAY NIGHT

Post's Champion Baseball Team Will Be Honored—Endowment and Convention Topics Up

Monday night's meeting of Oney Johnston post of the American legion at 8 o'clock at Elk hall will be devoted to a large amount of important business, according to plans made by the executive committee at a dinner at Conway hotel Friday evening. This session will be the first of the season and members have been urged to be present.

Reports on the national endowment drive will be made and plans discussed to obtain a part of the quota still due. Some of the interesting aspects of the state legion convention at Stevens Point also will be related by delegates. Recognition will be given the legion baseball team which played in the League, since it won not only the league championship but the city softball title. The team had an unusual playing record, with only one defeat out of 17 games.

Other business accumulating during the 3-month recess will be transacted at the meeting. Entertainment also will be provided for the closing social hour.

Miss Fall Fashion Is Found By Mrs. Bauers

Identity of the mysterious Miss Fall Fashion, who figured prominently in the merchants formal fall style opening, was revealed Friday evening when Mrs. G. A. Bauers, 324 E. Harris, accosted her on College ave., said the correct words and collected a prize of $1250. This personage sought by so many was Mrs. John Engel, Jr.

Nobody found Mr. Fall Fashion, however, and the prize of $1250 of cash on his behalf has been withdrawn. He was B. R. "Mulligan" Serocoy of Neenah, hockey player and amateur dramatist who is well known here.

These two persons walked College ave. Thursday night during the style opening but nobody found them. They appeared again Friday evening had intended to remain out until 8 o'clock so as to give somebody a chance to win the prizes. It was almost a case of identity in either case, as Miss Fashion was not discovered until 8:50, five minutes before she intended to go to her home.

Mrs. Bauer viewed the pictures of the backs of the two persons, as shown in the Post-Crescent, and also remembered the descriptions given. Mrs. Engel's appearance tallied with the details and the prize was won by repeating to her, "You are the mysterious Miss Fall Fashion." A check for $1250 was sent to Mrs. Bauer Saturday by Appleton Advertising club.

Many made the mistake of supposing that Miss and Mr. Fashion would be decked out in unusual attire at depicting fall styles but their dress,

FIRST SNOW OF SEASON IS SEEN HERE ON FRIDAY

It is reliably said that Appleton had its first snow of the season Friday night. The air became chilled as the evening advanced and there seemed to be a tendency toward rain. Autolists who were driving about 11 o'clock discovered that some of the occasional raindrops were turning to snow. The flakes were visible plainly on windshields, but they were only few in number. The drivers hope they won't see any more until about January.

while in strict keeping with styles was that of modest street design. There were several instances where near recognition took place.
